PREFACE.

AT first the intention was to give an account merely of the family of Moir-Byres of Tonley, together with short notices of the families they are related to by marriage, &c. In the search for information on the various heads, so much was got, connected more or less remotely with these families, that I thought it a pity not to utilise what had cost so much time and trouble to gather together. It is much to be regretted that admission has not been had to the deeds and papers of the various families; and also, through absence from home, I have been unable to exhaust several valuable sources of information, such as the Burgess Registers and Sheriff Court Records, &c. of Aberdeen.

It will be seen that the surname of Moir or More can fairly rank as one of the oldest in the county of Aberdeen, even without entering into the debatable question of Ranald or Reginald More, Chamberlain of Scotland, being progenitor of the Moirs, as well as of the Muirs, who, as will be seen at page 3, had large grants of land in Aberdeenshire in 1328.

As landowners, however—with the exception of Patrick More de Belhelvie, in 1467, page 4—few of them appear before the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and previous to that period the heads of most of the different families (doubtless all originally of the same stock) seem to have been mostly substantial Burgesses of Bon-Accord.

Of the gallant and brave Moirs of Stoneywood there were only four generations—John Moir of Kermuck, afterwards of Stoneywood, the founder—keen, honest, and shrewd, as became his good Burgess ancestry. He was succeeded by his son, James Moir, II. of Stoneywood, a learned and gallant gentleman, for fifteen years M.P. for his county, whose picture, attributed to Scougal, is in the Tonley collection. His son was James Moir, III. of Stoneywood, the brave and staunch supporter of his Prince, who, along with Lord Lewis Gordon and his kinsman, Moir of Lonmay, was amongst the most important of Charles Stuart's supporters in Aberdeenshire. He was succeeded by his equally good and brave son, James Moir, IV. and last of Stoneywood, the tried friend of his unfortunate Prince. With this worthy son of worthy sires ended the male line of the gallant Stoneywoods, whose representatives through the female line are the Skenes of Rubislaw. Lands and houses pass away, and the place which knew them knows them no more.

Of the "broad acres" owned by the name of Moir in Aberdeenshire, only two families of the surname hold estates in the county—viz., Moir-Byres of Tonley, whose lands came to them through the Byres family, and the old family of Moir of Scotstown, who have owned that property for at least eight generations, and who were much connected with the University and Old Town of Aberdeen. Its present representative, William Moir, is a Lieutenant in the 18th Hussars, and will, I hope, uphold "the auld hous," and add to, instead of diminish the family inheritance.

Moir of Invernettie had aspired to "founding a family," and registered arms on his own account; but his line became extinct before the parent stem of Stonewood, and Invernettie reverted to that family.

Of the loyal Moirs of Lonmay, the son of the Prince's brave supporter sold the estate and bought New Grange, in Forfarshire, which was, however, soon again parted with. The representative of this family, Captain Moir, was ignominiously hanged in London (see page 78).

William Moir, M.P., of Hilton, although also wishful to "found a house," and between 1672-8 registering arms, endures only a few years; and in 1682 there is another Laird, and even the name of his estate is changed.

Moir of Barnes, out of a family of four sons and nine daughters, appears at his decease to have only left eight daughters, his co-heiresses, whose husbands, no doubt, carefully and quickly divided his estate of the Abergeldie Moirs. I have no particulars excepting of their cadet, "Moir of Otterburn," (for the account of which family I am indebted, along with a great deal of other most useful information, to the kindness of Mr. R. R. Stodart, Lyon Depute), of which house there were five Lairds; but in 1765 their estates were also sold.

From pages 84 to 96 will be found a notice of all the Moirs, extracted from the Register of St. Nicholas from 1570 to 1700, and although many of the entries obviously belong to families whose genealogy is given in the body of the work, the author thought it better, as he has had no access to family papers, &c., to leave them, in most cases, in this register, rather than guess at their proper place in the various genealogies.

Of the Tonley Moirs we have first, at page 11, the careful and canny burgess of Aberdeen, Andrew Moir of Overhill, who is able to give his large family by two wives each a comfortable "set-out" in the world. His eldest son likewise, Andrew Moir, follows a country life, and devotes himself to agriculture. No doubt his wife, the Laird of Thornton's daughter, brings with her a suitable dowry. He is thus able to place his sons comfortably in the world, and to give each of his four daughters such a tocher as will not decrease their attractions in the eyes of a fond husband. The eldest son of the last couple, the Reverend Andrew Moir, was for nearly thirty years the minister of Ellon. By his well-born wife, Jean Forbes, of the family of Waterton, he had, with other issue—

The Reverend George Moir, his heir, who was for fifty-five years the much-loved and respected minister of Peterhead; his wife, Martha Byres,

It is a mistake to designate Patrick Byres of Tonley as a Roman Catholic, he being in fact a Presbyterian.—ED.

Two of this fine couple's sons married their cousins, who were sisters ; but John Moir, the younger brother, married the elder sister, Catherine Byres, whose descendants, as shown in the sequel, now hold Tonley ; while Janet Byres, the younger sister, married the elder brother, James Moir, M.D., and their son Patrick Moir-Crane is the present head of this branch of the Moir family, and heir-presumptive to Tonley.

Of the family of Byres, I am inclined to think that Thomas de Byres, who in 1392 owned lands in Edinburgh, was the real progenitor of the race, that the surname was assumed from the lands of Byres, in the parish and county of Haddington, and that the Hungarian-Franco story is exceedingly mythical. Of the house of Coates, its founder undoubtedly was the prosperous and talented trader, and good citizen of Edinburgh, John Byres, born in 1569, who was of the same stock as the Byres of the counties of Haddington and Lanark, &c. (In the last century, a branch of the family owned in 1661 the estate of Strathaven, see page 142.) By his first wife, Dame Margaret Barclay, the Laird of Coates had daughters only ; but by his second wife, Agnes Smyth, a sister of Sir John Smyth, Knight of Groithill and King's Cramond, M.P., he had at least five sons.

John Byres, I. of Coates, was succeeded by his eldest son, the brave and gallant Sir John Byres, a devoted Loyalist, who added the estate of Warrestone to his patrimonial inheritance, and seems to have left his family in a prosperous condition. By his wife Isobel, daughter of Sir John Auchmuty of Gosford, he had his son and heir, John Byres, III. of Coates, through whose extravagance, and it is also believed by losses in the ill-managed Darien scheme, by which his Aberdeen kinsman also suffered severely, the estates had to be sold.

That the family of Byres of Tonley are descendants of the house of Coates, I have no doubt, although as yet the connection has not been satisfactorily traced. James Byres, a prosperous merchant of Aberdeen, was married there in 1667 to Janet Middleton, page 114. At page 109 I hazard the suggestion that he may have been the youngest son of John Byres, I. of Coates, although I have no evidence to show that he had such a son. However, I think it more likely that this James Byres of Aberdeen was the son of William Byres, born 1627 (called James in the family memoir), the fifth son of John Byres, I. of Coates, and Agnes Smyth, and that this William Byres may have been a captain under Montrose.

Robert Byres (the son of James Byres and Janet Middleton) was a merchant of good standing in Holland and in Dublin, but met his death by accidental drowning in the Bay of Dublin, before he had been able to follow out his Scotch instinct of buying an estate and "founding a family." However, his widow, Jean Sandilands (and her late husband's trustees), bought in 1718 for their son, Patrick Byres, the lands and barony of "bonnie" Tonley, which have since continued to be the home of the head of the house. Patrick Byres, I. of Tonley, as shown in the text, was a zealous supporter of his Prince, was "out in the '45," remained for some time an exile in France, and his estate was all but forfeited. He registered arms in 1755, and in the patent is described as "representative of the family of Coates," for what reason does not appear; but the blazon was then considerably altered, and the old crest—a bee—was changed to a cock, with the motto, "Safe by his own exertions," a most appropriate motto for one who no doubt had many narrow escapes with his life. By his wife, Janet Moir (a daughter of James Moir, M.P., III. of Stoneywood), he had, with other issue, his son and heir—

James Byres, II. of Tonley, who was also a zealous Jacobite, and for some time a Captain in Lord Ogilvie's Regiment. Mr. Byres was a gentleman of great learning and culture, eminent as an antiquary, and resided for forty years at Rome. Returning from thence in 1790, he settled at Tonley, where he died unmarried in 1817. Like most men, he had his "romance." He had cherished an affection for Miss Fraser of Castle Fraser, but something came between them—"True love never did run smooth." Neither married, and when the lady died she left her old admirer her picture (which is still at Tonley) and her carriage. The next Laird was General Patrick Byres, the nephew of his predecessor (son of Robert Byres of Kincaigie, page 124, and Margaret Burnett), who, besides being a brave soldier, was much loved as a good neighbour, kind friend to the poor, and amiable country gentleman.

The unfortunate death of Lieutenant James Byres of the 1st Royals (the only son of the General), who was accidentally drowned at Allilane, ended the male line of Byres of Tonley; after which the succession opened to the Moir family.

In conclusion, I beg to acknowledge gratefully the cordial assistance I have received from Mr. GEORGE BURNETT, Lord Lyon, Mr. R. R. STODART, Lyon Depute, Mr. W. F. SKENE, of Inverleith Row, Edinburgh (whose father compiled the valuable Stoneywood MS., which he kindly lent me), CAPTAIN DUNBAR-DUNBAR of Sea Park, the Rev. WALTER MACLEOD of Edinburgh, and others.

I hope that any corrections and additional information will be sent to me, addressed Isthmian Club, 12 Grafton Street, London, W., and that the portion of a good-natured public who may be interested in family history will look leniently on a work in which I am assured there are many inaccuracies.

A. J. MITCHELL GILL.

OF THE SURNAME OF MOIR OR MORE.

By the evidence of ancient charters, the orthography of this name seems to have been so various as to occasion some difficulty in distinguishing the different families who bore it, as we find individuals of the same family promiscuously designed by the names of Moir, More, Moor, More, Mure, Muir, sometimes contracted to M<sup>r</sup>, and even Moreson, Morrison, and Mureson. The name has a double origin, from Maure or Saracen, borne by foreign families in most of the continental countries of Europe, varied in accordance with the peculiar idiom of the country, and in Scotland from the Gaelic etymology, Mohr, big or great—allusive to remarkable size of person. Of the five entries of arms in the Lyon Office to families of the name of Moir or More in Scotland, all are connected with Aberdeenshire, and bear the three Moors' or Saracens' heads, see p. 46. The name of Morison in Scotland bears azure three Saracens' heads, conjoined in one neck proper, the faces looking to the chief dexter and sinister sides of the shield.

The family and surname of Muir is much mixed up, and often confused with, that of More or Moir. The principal family of the surname of Muir seems to have been the Muirs of Rowallan, in Ayrshire, who bear, argent, on a fesse azure, three stars or, quite different bearings from the name of Moir or More; yet there are not wanting instances where two or more families, having the same surname, and tracing to a common ancestor, bear quite distinct arms.

Nisbit's Heraldry.

One, if not the most ancient family of the surname of More, was that of Polkellie, in the county of Renfrew. Gilchrist More was one of the Barons who swore fealty to Edward I. in 1296, The heiress of Polkellie, Janet More, in the time of David II., married Sir Adam Muir of Rowallan.

1263.

The late Mr. James Skene of Rubislaw, in a valuable and most interesting MS. history by him of the "Moirs of Stoneywood" family, kindly lent me by his son, Mr. W. F. Skene, says, "Sir Gilchrist More was a descendant of the Irish O'Mores; and that the connection appears from the grant made by Sir Gilchrist Muir of Rowallan (who was knighted at the battle of Largs) of his lands of Polkellie to his Irish kinsman, Ranald More, who had come over to assist in a contest with the Cumings, and that the O'Mores in Ireland bore as crest the Moire's head, or 'Bluidy Heid,' in allusion to the family name." He also says "several families possessing property in the Western counties of Scotland branched off at different times from that of Rowallan and Polkellie, most of whom adopted the name of Mure, although More was the original orthography used both in Ireland and Great Britain."

The Moires, Marquises of Drogheda, in Ireland, have a Moor's head, out of a coronet, for crest, and their arms have a resemblance in the charges, although not in the tinctures, to those of the family of Muir of Rowallan.

But we will now confine ourselves to the history of the Moirs or Mores in Aberdeenshire. "The introduction of the name into that county, may, with great probability, be assigned to the circumstance of the extensive possessions acquired there by Sir Reginald More, the Chamberlain, in David II.'s Skene's MS. reign; and it is remarkable that while the families in the western counties have almost all adopted the name of Mure or Muir, those of Aberdeenshire have as uniformly retained the original orthography of More and Moir." In the older records, however, I often find the surname of the Aberdeenshire Moirs spelt also More and Moire, Moore, &c., and in a very few cases Muire and Mure.

OF THE MORES OR MOIRS OF ABERDEENSHIRE.

- 1328. Sir Adam More, witness to charter of the hospital of Turriff.—("Antiquities of the Shire of Aberdeen," Spalding Club, vol. ii., p. 339.) Ranald or Reginald More, chamberlain of Scotland, has a charter from David II. of the lands of Formartine, Akintoir (Kintore), Aboyne, Mickle Morphie, and Converays.
- 1382. Johannis Mor, witness to an absolution, Canon of Aberdeen.—("Registrum Episcopatus Aberdonensis," Spalding Club, vol. i., p. 163, &c.)
- 1472. Robert Moir, witness to a charter of the lands of Balmur (Balmuir), Torterstoune, Cocklaw (all in the parish of Peterhead).—("Antiquities of the Shire of Aberdeen, vol. iii., p. 591.)
- 1473. Andrew More, merchant at Bruges (in France), is mentioned in a deed, Andrew Reid of Bad-fothels (Pitfoddels), at Aberdeen, Thomas Moir, also.—Ibid., pp. 261 and 262.

- David Moir (“Antiquities of the Shire of Aberdeen,” vol. ii., p. 262).
1550. William Moir owns a tenement of land in the Shiprow.
1566. David Moir infest in the lands of Braidhaugh, Privy Council Records. And many others that might be mentioned; sufficient it is to show how long the name has been in the district. The progenitors of all of the landed families of the name of Moir, in Aberdeenshire, appear to have been substantial burgesses of the city of Bôn-Accord, and could the connection only now be traced, would doubtless be found to spring at no very distant date from a common ancestor.

There were a good many landed families of the surname of Moir, mostly in Aberdeenshire, in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, viz., the Moirs (said to have been first designed of Ferryhill), of Kermuck or Ellon, thereafter of Stoneywood, amongst whose cadets I may mention Moir of Whitehill, in Midlothian, an estate which came to them from the Scougal family, see p. 77, afterwards of Lonmay, in Buchan, which last estate was sold, and New Grange, in Forfarshire, bought. The Moirs of Inverniettie, which estate, on the extinction of that line, reverted back to Stoneywood. The next family in importance to Stoneywood was Moir of Scotstoun, whose cadets were, so far as I know, Spittal, Denmore, and Park on Deeside. Besides these, there were Moirs of Hilton (now Turnerhall) of Abergeldie, afterwards of Otterburn, in Stirlingshire, of Barnes, &c., most of whom will be noticed afterwards.

MOIRS IN FOVERAN.

1574. 30th Nov<sup>r</sup>. William Moir, in Auchloun, a farm now on the estate of Tillery.— (“Sheriff Court Records of Aberdeen, and Antiquities of the Shire of Aberdeen,” Spalding Club.)
1596. May 29. John Moir in Newburgh.—Ibid.
1597. 21st April. Andrew Moir, Smyth in Foveran, against Helen Fraser, tried for witchcraft. (“Miscellany of the Spalding Club,” vol. i., p. 108.) In the list of “Nomina assise” (Court held at Aberdeen) occurs at p. 110, ibid., the names of William Moir in Balgeirscho, and Andrew Moir, Smyth in Foveran.
- Reg. of St. Nicholas, Aberdeen, 1613, 22d June, Arthur Udny—no doubt of the family of that ilk—and Janett Moir, married at Fowerane.

From Register of Baptisms, Parish of Foveran.

William Mor in Belhelvie has a son—

Alexander Pirie in Auchnacant, in the parish of Foveran, afterwards in Meikle Tippetty, in the adjoining parish of Logie-Buchan, m<sup>d</sup> Agnes, dau. of Andrew Moir I. of Oldmill,<sup>1</sup> by his first wife, see pp. 11-15 (b. 1668, Mrs. Pirie died 14th Feb<sup>y</sup> 1696. Tombstone in Foveran churchyard.) Alexander Pirie was clerk and collector of the poll tax for Logie-Buchan, 1695-96. Issue—

1. Andrew, bap. 30th June 1686. Witnesses,
Andrew Moir and Andrew Sutherland.
2. Jean, bap. 27th April 1688. Witnesses,
Andrew Moir, child's grandfather, and Robert Moir, probably child's uncle.
3. Agnes.
4. Barbara (the four children, all mentioned on tombstone, had probably died young). The George Pirie in Savock, who appears as a witness of the bap. of the Rev<sup>d</sup> George Moir in 1679, &c.—see p. 12—had been probably a brother of Alexander's in Tippetty, and of James Pirie, who was settled at

3. Robert, in Overhill, p. 9.
1. Agnes, m<sup>d</sup> Alexander Pirie, as above.
And probably more children.

Irewells, in Udny parish, towards the end of the seventeenth century, who by his first wife, Helen Mair, was father of William Pirie, b. in 1700—the first of the name who settled at Orchardton in that parish—a place his descendants resided at for nearly two centuries; who by his wife, Elizabeth Laing, had Patrick Pirie, who m<sup>d</sup> 1st March 1778 Margaret, dau. of Alexander Smith, papermaker, Stoneywood; and thus begun the Pories' connection with the paper trade, which their descendants, the Pories of Stoneywood and Waterton, have so ably conducted and extended. The younger son, James Pirie, succ<sup>d</sup> to Orchardton, and was grandfather of the late James Pirie, see p. 23.

Alexander Moir in Newtyle (perhaps another son of Andrew Moir I. by his first wife).

1. Christian, bap. 30th Jan<sup>y</sup> 1659. Witnesses, John Turing, in Overhills, and George Thomson in Pitmillan.
2. Lilian, bap. 1st Nov<sup>r</sup> 1663. Witnesses, George Conan there, and Andrew More in Oldmill of Foveran.
3. Janet, buried 22d March 1660.

Besides Agnes Moir, b. 1668, Mrs. Pirie, Andrew Moir I. of Oldmill had other children, see p. 6—a son, James Moir, was bap. 6th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1659. Witnesses, Ja<sup>s</sup> Scot in Meikle Haddo, and Alexander Houston in Balgerscho, and buried at Foveran July 5, 1660. Foveran

5. Elspet, bap. 19th May 1694. Witnesses, Alex<sup>r</sup> Pirie, Alex<sup>r</sup> Johnston.

The Foveran family of Moir seem to have had daughters married to people named Catto, Connon, Alexander Rose, Laird of Inch, in the Garioch, descended of Kilravock, was Minister of Monymusk. Dr. John Rose of Foveran succeeded to the paternal property of Inch. His brother, Alexander Rose, was consecrated 1686 Bishop of Moray, and in 1688 Bishop of Edinburgh, while their uncle, Arthur Rose, was Bishop of Argyll 1675, of Glasgow 1679; and who, in 1684, became Archbishop of St. Andrews, and Primate of Scotland.

Johnston, Findlay, Webster, &c., and over two and a half centuries ago appear to have had a large connection in that district.

1. Janet, bap. 16th Feb<sup>y</sup> 1707. Witnesses, Gilbert Moir in Pitmillan, and William Watson in Minnes (probably the paternal and maternal grandfathers).
2. Susanna, bap. 17th April 1709. Witnesses as before.

Of this prolific race of the Foveran Moirs, none known to be of this stock are now in the district. There is still the name in the parish. Mr. George Moir in Knockhall, whose progenitors came from Dyce, and the Moirs in Tarty, Logie-Buchan, who own part of the estate of Auchleuchries, in the parish of Cruden, whose descent I am not acquainted with.

ANDREW MOIR OF OVERHILL.

In the latter half of the seventeenth century, before there were so many outlets, as the opening up of the colonies, &c., half of the best farms in Aberdeenshire were in the hands of the sons and near connections of the gentry; and many of their descendants are still to be found occupying the same lands.

“Major opima ferat.”

(Let the worthiest carry off the prize.)

ANDREW MOIR or MORE, sometime Laird of Overhill, the direct progenitor of the Moir-Byres family. B. in or about 1621. Was a wealthy Burgess of Aberdeen (admitted 11th Sept<sup>r</sup> 1688—see copy of Diploma, p. 45), and resided for many years at Oldmill,<sup>1</sup> in the parish of Foveran, in that county, where he died, at the age of 73, the 14th Dec<sup>r</sup> 1694, and was interred in the parish churchyard. For inscription on his tombstone see p. 16.

He was twice married, although I have been unable to ascertain the name of his first wife, and for an account of some of her children see pp. 6-9. His descendants preserve the following tradition, viz., “That previous to his second marriage he divided his property with the children of his first wife, in order that he might not do them injustice, by bequeathing too large a portion of his property at a future period to children that might be born of the proposed marriage." By his will (Aberdeen and Banff wills were all nearly burned before 1721), made 1670-80, he left his wife and four children of the second marriage 30,000 merks Scots—a large sum in those days." Andrew Moir, who for a few years after 1681 appears in the Foveran Register of Baptisms, designed "of Overhill"—this had probably been the farm of that name, now on the property of Blairythan, in the parish of Foveran—married in 1670-72, for his second wife, Agnes Montgomerie (b. 1650, died March 1730). For note on family of Montgomerie, see p. 48, and tombstone inscription, see p. 16.

<sup>1</sup> This name, of Saxon or Scandinavian origin, is of great antiquity; the barony of Gillsland, in Cumberland, was owned by a family of the name before 1066. A branch of this stock from the north of England is supposed to have settled in Perthshire (with which county they were long connected) in the 14th century, where they held the estates of Halton, Torsophy, &c. The family of Gill of Blairythan claim descent from John Gill of Halton, M.P. for Perth, 1364-73, of which town either he or his son John Gill was Provost. Their direct ancestor, Alexander Gill, b. about 1550, dead 1618, settled at Auchlyne, in Buchan, Aberdeenshire, in which he was succeeded by his son Robert. With this district his descendants have since been connected. Arms of Gill of Blairythan—Lyon Register—Fusily argent and vert on a chief gules, three martlets of the first. Crest—a demi-eagle rising proper. Mottos—“Sursum Prorusque” (Upward and Onward), and below shield, “In te Domine spes nostra” (In thee, O Lord, is our trust).

Of the sons of Elizabeth Moir and Robert Garden, one was a Colonel in the Army, and died unmarried. Another son, George Garden (not in above list), settled as a merchant at Montreal, married his relative, Euphemia, daughter of William Forbes of Echt, Aberdeenshire—(see family of Forbes of Waterton, p. 55)—and had at least two sons—viz., Robert Garden of London, married (no issue), and William Garden, also of London, married, and has issue.

Of the other daughters of Elizabeth Moir and Robert Garden, one became Mrs. Garland of Cairnton, near Fordoun, and had issue; another, wife of Lieut. Forsyth, R.N., of Harthill, Aberdeenshire, and had issue; another married Andrew Nicol of Aberdeen, of the same family as Nicol of Ballogie, in Aberdeenshire, and had issue; and another became Mrs. Greig, and had issue; her husband was a farmer in Forfarshire.

IV.

The Rev<sup>d</sup> GEORGE MOIR, M.A., born at Ellon 5th April 1741, took his degree of M.D. at Marischal College, Aberdeen; diploma dated 1765; was, according to Scott's "Fasti," licensed 26th April, presented by George III., 6th May 1765, to Peterhead, and ordained 11th August following. Of this much respected gentleman, who was for the long period of fifty-five years minister of Peterhead, it is told that he had at the same place, at different times, "three churches, three manses, and thrice an augmentation of his living." Dr. Moir had a sexton who lived in the Kirkton of Peterhead named Mutch, and he was fond of saying, "that there is Mutch in the Kirkton, but Moir (often pronounced More) in the manse." He wrote "The Statistical Account of the Parish of Peterhead," which is very valuable.

Dr. Moir, who died 18th March 1818, and is interred at Peterhead, married, 7th August 1766, Martha, third daughter of Patrick Byres I. of Tonley —(see that family<sup>1</sup>)—and commenced the connection between the Moirs and Byres, which has resulted in their being merged into one family.

Mrs. Moir died in Nov<sup>r</sup> 1816, aged 77, and was buried beside her husband. Issue, eight sons and two daughters, viz.<sup>2</sup> :—

1. Andrew, bap. June 12, 1767. Witnesses,
Robert Garden, baillie (the child's uncle by marriage), and Dr. Thomas Gordon of Clerk-

David Wilson, surgeon, and George Gordon of Sheelagreen. Died unmarried.
5. John, born in or about 1775, well known in the north-east of Scotland as an artist, and in not a few of the country houses there are his portraits to be seen. He acquired the small property of St. Catherine's, near Peterhead, where he often resided, and died 28th Feb<sup>y</sup> 1859, and was interred beside his parents in Peterhead Churchyard. Mr. Moir married, in 1800, his cousin-german Catherine, eldest daughter and co-heir of Captain John Byres,

V.

JAMES MOIR, M.D. (third son of the Rev<sup>d</sup> George Moir and Martha Byres of Tonley, see p. 32), bap. at Peterhead 14th Nov<sup>r</sup> 1770, was sometime of Johnston, Rubislaw, near Aberdeen, and afterwards of Braehead, near Old Aberdeen. Dr. Moir, who was one of the leading physicians of his day in Aberdeen—see next page—died there in Nov<sup>r</sup> 1861, and was interred in St. Nicholas Churchyard, in the vault of his maternal ancestors, the Donaldsons of Auchmull.<sup>1</sup> He married in 1802 his cousin-german Janet (who died 1818, and was also interred in the Donaldson vault), youngest daughter and co-heir of Cap<sup>t</sup> John Byres, R.E., by his wife, Isobel Donaldson of Auchmull.—See families of Byres and Donaldson.

2. Patrick, his heir.

1. Janet (Jessie), of Bon Accord St., Aberdeen ; died unmarried 1870.

THE LATE DR. JAMES MOIR.

From "Aberdeen Journal," November 1861.

We observed the name of this old and respected citizen in our obituary of the bye-past week, and cannot let it pass without some slight notice of the event.

<sup>1</sup> Inscription on tombstone—"Under this stone, in the place of sepulture appropriated during 200 years for her maternal ancestors of the name of Donaldson, the last of Auchmull, are deposited the remains of Janet, wife to Dr. Moir, Physician in Aberdeen, who died in the 17th June 1818, æt. 37. Also of their son James, who died in April 1826, aged 9 years ; and of the above Dr. Moir, who departed this life 4th Nov<sup>r</sup> 1861, aged 91." &c.

Dr. Moir was born at Peterhead in 1770, being the son of the minister of the parish ; and having received the early portion of his education partly there, and partly at the Academy of Marculter, under the charge of Dr. Glennie, he entered the classes at Marischal College, and passed through the usual course of study at the University. Being destined for the medical profession, he became a pupil of the late Dr. George French, who was Professor of Chemistry ; and while thus engaged, he, along with a few fellow-students, among whom was the late Sir James M'Gregor, for the sake of mutual improvement, met together, and instituted the Medico-Chirurgical Society on the 15th of December 1789. He subsequently went to Edinburgh, and completed his medical education under the superintendence of his relative, Dr. James Gregory, Professor of Medicine in the University, and graduated there about the year 1792. He was soon after attached as surgeon to the Hopetoun Fencibles, and continued with this corps till it was disembodied in 1798. After this Dr. Moir settled permanently in Aberdeen as a medical practitioner. He was elected one of the medical officers of the Royal Infirmary in 1808, and resigned this appointment in 1814. He was also appointed surgeon to the Aberdeen Bridewell after its erection ; and, besides conducting an extensive private practice, he took an active interest in the management and prosperity of the various public charities and institutions of the city. Though originally of a strong constitution, he began to feel the infirmities of age approaching, and, after a long and laborious medical career, he finally retired from the practice of his profession in 1843, and from this time lived in the quietness of private life at his cottage of Brachead, near Balgownie, enjoying the respect and affection of his friends and neighbours. He continued to possess remarkably good health, and was seldom confined to his bed till within a few days of his death, which took place, without a struggle, on the 4th November 1861—thus wanting only six days to complete his ninety-first year. His funeral was conducted on Monday, the 11th November, from the hall of the Medico-Chirurgical Society in King Street—the remains being preceded by the President and Members of the Society walking in procession—to the Churchyard of St. Nicholas, out of respect to his memory. Any lengthened eulogium on the deceased would be out of place. His habits were domestic and retiring, and he avoided public notice and display. As a practitioner, he was much esteemed for his accurate and extensive knowledge, and the kindness and condescension he showed in his intercourse with his brethren. The same qualities were no less felt in his intercourse with his patients ; though sometimes he might startle by the abruptness of his manner, his wonted urbanity soon reconciled them to him, and they came to regard him with much confidence and affection. In fact, under a certain roughness of exterior there lay concealed much tenderness and feeling, too often called forth during those scenes of affliction and distress which medical men are so frequently obliged to witness in the course of their professional duties. To the poor he gave largely of his time and skill, without the least expectation of being remunerated. He was a sincere Christian, and kind and benevolent to all.

FAMILY OF MONTGOMERY.

"Gardez bien"—(Guard well).

Simple arms, azure, three fleurs de lis or.

The first of this name in Scotland was Robert de Montgomery, who received a grant of the lands of Eglisam, in Renfrewshire, 1160-1175, died about 1177. From him comes the noble family of Montgomery, Earls of Eglintoun, and many others.

Of Agnes Montgomerie or Montgomery, wife of Andrew Moir, I. of Oldmill, born 1650, died March 1730, see p. 12, I have been able to find out very little about. All I presently know of her family is from a scrap of paper, amongst the family papers of Mr. George Moir of Stoneywood, near Manchester, addressed to Provost More,—i.e., George More of Raeden, who was Provost of Aberdeen 1795-97, and again from 1807-9, see p. 18,—in the handwriting, I think, of his cousin, the late Dr. James Moir, of Aberdeen, viz., "Hay of Renneston<sup>1</sup> (a property in Logie-Buchan, Aberdeenshire, now held by the Dingwall family), went to Berwickshire or Northumberland (more probably Ayrshire) and married a Miss Montgomerie. Her sister, Agnes Montgomerie, came with her, and married Oldmill (that is, Andrew Moir). N.B., that was the last Rennieston's father. I believe Rob<sup>t</sup> Simpson of Thornton's wife (see p. 50) was some connection of the Montgomeries, for he, Rob<sup>t</sup> Simpson, got acquainted with his wife by the connection of the Oldmill people." The matter within brackets is added.—No doubt Agnes Montgomerie's or Moir's people, had originally come from the south country, as above stated, but there were families of the surname located in Foveran and the neighbourhood over two centuries ago.

Probably written 1795
to 1809.

1661. Dec<sup>r</sup> 2. John Montgomerie in Tillycorthie, parish of Udny—

of Marjory, daughter of Andrew Moir of Overhill—see p. 15.

1681. June 4. Robert Montgomerie in Pitgerso, a son bap., called Robert. Witnesses, Robert Montgomerie elder, Robert Chein, and Robert Montgomery younger (Pitgerso or Pitgersie adjoins Greyshill).
1682. Jan<sup>y</sup> 8. John Montgomery. Witness to the bap. of John, son of George More, in the parish of Udney.
1683. June 21. Robert Montgomerie. Witness to the bap. of Samuel, son of Andrew Moir—see p. 15.
1683. Dec<sup>r</sup> 6. William Montgomery, at the Hill of Fiddes, has Jean bap. Witnesses, William Crawford, William Watson.
1684. John Montgomery, a child bap. in fornication, called Gilbert. Witnesses, Gilbert Moir, Robert Montgomery, younger.
1687. Nov<sup>r</sup> 18. William Montgomery has Margaret bap. Witnesses, William Craighead and William Rainy.

Inferences.—As Robert Montgomery the elder was a witness to the bap. of several of the children of Andrew Moir and Agnes Montgomery, it is most probable he was a near relation; probably Mrs. Moir's father or brother.

1705. Jan<sup>y</sup> 7. Alexander Black and Margaret Montgomery married. Marriages.
This had probably been a near relative of Alexander Blake (so name is spelt in same register), who married, 27th July 1714, Agnes Steven (Stephen), and were progenitors of the "Blacks of Wateredgemuir," in Logie-Buchan. Thomas Black, who bought Wateredgemuir, married 10th July 1787 Mary Sangster (and was succeeded by their eldest son, Thomas Black of Wateredgemuir, who married Margaret, daughter of Alexander Innes of Clerkseat, Commissary of Aberdeen, father of the late Alexander Black, of Hyde Park Terrace, London, who married Harriet, daughter of John S. Salt, J.P. and D.L., of Weeping Cross, co. Stafford), and were the grandparents of John Black, who married Elizabeth, daughter of John Garden of Millfield, Aberdeenshire. Their dau., Isobel Sarah Black, m. 1870 David Gill, LL.D., of Blairyth—see p. 24.

SIMPSONS OF THORNTON, CONCRAIG, &amp;c.

"Implebitur"—(It will increase).

The Simpsons—Simpsons—Sympsons, &c., sons of Simon, are believed to have been originally Frasers of the Lovat family. Simon being the name of the first of them who settled in the Highlands, and a common name for their chiefs, they adopted the Gaelic designation of Mac-Shimeì—that is, the sons of Simon—hence Simonson, Simson, or Simpson. A tradition which is preserved in an old branch of the Simpson family, long settled in the parish of Belhelvie, Aberdeenshire, from whom Simpson of Hazelhead, near Aberdeen, was descended, is to the effect that at a gathering in Inverness-shire, one Simon Fraser, hearing a piper play an obnoxious tune, slew him, and had to fly to the Lowlands, and was their ancestor.

The Simpsons of Idoch or Udoch, in the parish of Turriff, in Aberdeenshire, are stated to have owned that property from about the end of the 16th century. George Symphon of Udoch is Laird in 1649 (Acts of Parliament of Scotland, vol. vi., p. 192). Their arms in the Lyon Register are, argent, on a chief vert, three crescents of the first.<sup>1</sup> Crest, a Falcon. Motto—Alis nutrior (I am fed by birds). Robert Simpson of Thornton registers his arms, 1672-8, same as Idoch, but indents the chief as his difference; and for crest, a crescent or, and motto, Implebitur. Simpson of Hazelhead (descended of the Belhelvie family) bears as Idoch, within a bordure for difference; indeed all the Scotch families of the surname have their arms as "Idoch," with a difference. The late Sir James Young Simpson, Baronet, M.D., of Strathavon, Linlithgowshire, the most eminent person of the surname, bore, or, on a chief vert, a goshawk (the crest of Udoch) between two crescents argent.

I. Robert Simpson was Laird of Thornton, Lawellsyde, and Pittgavinie, in the parish of Bourtie, Aberdeenshire, prior to 6th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1669, in which year he is witness to a service—John Gordon of Bradlane (Broadland, near Huntly).—(Sheriff Court Records.) He registers arms as before stated, 1672-8, and is alive, resident, Scottish Arms.

<sup>1</sup> Lindsay of the Mount, Lyon 1542, gives this coat for the surname of Symphon, but a coat with the chief azure (ibid.) occurs 1508. The seal of George Symson, 1561, bears a fesse, instead of the chief, between three crescents. George Simpson of Udoch, 1672-8, was allowed the coat as in Workman, 1565-6. This Laird, with his wife, Jean Leslie, and family, appear as residing at Idoch, 1695-6.

and polled at Thornton, with his children, Robert, John, and Elizabeth, 1695-6—(Poll-book of Aberdeenshire, vol. I., p. 334), and was dead before 1729—(wife probably a Montgomerie, sister of Mrs. Moir, pp. 12 and 48). Issue—

1. Robert, his heir.
2. John, polled at Thornton 1695-6.
1. Elizabeth, born 1675, married 1699-1700, Andrew Moir, II. (of Cultercullen and Oldmill).—See that family, p. 17.

II. Robert Simpson, II. of Thornton, &c., succeeded before 1729; married . Issue (Bourtie Parish Register)—

1. Alexander, bap. 9th May 1713. Witnesses, Alexander Simpson of Concraig, in the parish of Skene (the child's uncle), and James Man, in the parish of Tarves.
2. Robert, bap. May 8, 1714. Witnesses, Alexander Gordon of Auchedie (Auchreddie), and John Symson, servitor to the Earl of Kintore (probably maternal and paternal uncles).
1. Mary, bap. Nov<sup>r</sup> 13, 1710. Witnesses, Alexander Simpson, in Mill of Kinguidy, and Robert Simpson, in Green of Udny.

III. Robert Simpson, III. of Thornton.

1. Helen, bap. 14th June 1744. Witnesses, John Leith of Blair and John Glenny.
2. Elizabeth, bap. 9th Feb<sup>y</sup> 1746. Witnesses, John Leith of Blair and John Glenny.

Probably this Laird married a Miss Leith of Blair, which is a property in the parish of Bourtie.

Alexander Simpson, in Mill of Kinguidy, Bourtie, a member of this family, had, according to the Bourtie Register, the following children baptized:—

1. James, 14th Jan<sup>y</sup> 1751.
  2. Alexander, 20th Jan<sup>y</sup> 1753.
  3. Peter, 28th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1761.
  1. Janet, 11th Feb<sup>y</sup> 1750.
  2. Jean, 3d Nov<sup>r</sup> 1755.
  3. Elspet, 5th July 1759.
1716. Dec<sup>r</sup> 13. (Same Register).—John Tower, in New Aberdeen, and Elizabeth Simpson, married.

SIMPSON OF CONCRAIG.

I. Alexander Simpson<sup>1</sup> (brother of Robert Simpson, I. of Thornton) was chamberlain to the Earl of Kintore, and in 1695-6 is polled as gentleman-tenant in Ardmurdo, parish of Kinkell, Aberdeenshire. He acquired, before 1713, the estate of Concraig, in the parish of Skene, in that county. Married Margaret Symson.<sup>2</sup> Issue, at least one son and six daughters, viz. :—

1. Patrick, designed younger of Concraig 1729, and Laird in 1741.
1. Elizabeth.
2. Helen ; married John Milne, in Brotherfield, in the parish of Peterculter, Aberdeenshire, and died 25th March 1752.<sup>3</sup>
3. Anna.
4. Margaret ; married the Hon. Major-General Mark Napier, fifth son of Francis, V. Lord Napier, and had issue.—(See Burke's Peerage and Baronetage, Art. Napier.)
5. Katherine. (These five daughters, with their father and mother, are alive, and polled at Ardmurdo 1695-6.)

1. Jean, 18th June 1706. Wit., Alex<sup>r</sup> Taylor, in Ardmurdo, and James Taylor, in Kinkell.
2. Robert, 29th April 1708. Wit., Rob<sup>t</sup> Simpson of Thornton, and Mr. James Walker, in Peitihill.
3. Elspet, 20th Dec<sup>r</sup> 1718. Wit., Alexander Symson, in Belhelvie (this would almost point to a connection with the, at one time, numerous family of Simpson there, one of whom, Elspet Simpson, niece of Innes of Stow, m<sup>d</sup> Alexander Mitchell—(see p. 20), and Alexander Sangster, in Kinkell.

Some of the other children had probably been born at Concraig.

" So, reader, underneath their lyes
The virtuous, prudent, chaste, and wise,
Of beauty great, and gentle blood,
The darling of the neighbourhood.
Think then of her bright, gentle soul,
And first admire, and then condole."

6. Barbara; contracted 11th Jan<sup>r</sup> 1730 to John Middleton, Register of St. Nicholas, younger of Aberdeen, merchant, and had two daughters.
  1. Elizabeth Middleton; contracted 6th Aug<sup>t</sup> 1759 to her relative, William Mitchell, Merchant Burgess of Aberdeen, whose first wife she was.—(See p. 20.)
  2. Janet Middleton; contracted 3d March 1766 to John Ibid. Ewen, of Aberdeen, Jeweller, author of the fine ballad, "Weel may the boatie row," whose only child
    1. Elizabeth Ewen, married 1787 a younger son of Grahame of Morphie, in Kincardineshire. Their son is Barron Graham of Morphie.

William Simpson, Baillie of Aberdeen (another brother of the Ibid. first Laids of Thornton and Concraig, married there, 11th Sept<sup>r</sup> 1699 Mary, daughter of David Aedie of Newark and Easter-Echt, Aberdeenshire (sister of Giles Aedie, wife of Alexander Skene, XVIII. of that ilk), and had at least one daughter, Sarah Simpson, II. wife of her cousin-german, George Skene, XIX. of that ilk.—(See Douglas' Baronage, p. 36.)

Helen Simpson (a sister of the I. Thornton, &c.), married James Coutts in Milnbrig. She is alive, and polled at Kirkstyle of Cluny, with her daughter, Jean Coutts, 1695-6 (Poll-Book of Aberdeenshire, p. 225). Issue—1. James; 2. John, in Meikle Finnersie of Echt (Ibid., p. 210). 1. Jean.—(Sheriff Court Records of Aberdeen, 13th July 1694.)

1658. June 18. Gilbert Coutts, in Finnersies, on the service of Patrick Dun, in the lands of Tartie, and heir of Dr. Robert Dun, deceased the night before, pp. 80-81.
1642. May 26. David Simpson, Burgess of Aberdeen, cautioner for Gilbert Coutts, in Finnersie.
1729. . . The said day compeared judicially William Simpson, late Baillie and Merchant in Aberdeen, Patrick <sup>1</sup> Inferences.—That the Simpsons, so long connected with the Turriff district, Laids of Idoch there, &c., are the progenitors of the Thornton family, as also of the large farming family of Simpson, long settled in the Belhelvie district. George Simpson of Hazelhead, burgess cooper of Aberdeen, of the last family, had several daughters; one of them married Turner of Menie; another married one of the Bannermans of the Elsick family.

Simpson, younger of ConCraig, Alexander Livingstone, Merchant in Aberdeen, curators elected, nominate, and chosen by Robert Simpson, now of Thornton, lawful son to the deceased Robert Simpson of Thornton.

The four above extracts are from the Sheriff Court Records of Aberdeen.

FORBES OF WATERTON, PARISH OF ELLON, ABERDEENSHIRE.<sup>1</sup>

“Virtute inimica quies”—(Inactivity is an enemy to virtue).

I. The first of this family was Thomas Forbes, who inherited Waterton from his father—(William Forbes of Tolquhon, in the parish of Tarves, Aberdeenshire, by his marriage in 1580 with J. Ogilvie of Banff. The Forbeses of Tolquhon, who were celebrated for their loyalty to the Stuarts, were one of the oldest and most influential branches of the noble family of Forbes)—married Jean, sister of Sir Gilbert Ramsay, Baronet, of Balmain, and was slain by the Kennedys of Kermuck 1652. Their son—

II. Sir John Forbes of Waterton, Knight, Hereditary Constable of Aberdeen (Patent Charles II.), m<sup>d</sup> his cousin, 1663, Jean, sister of Sir George Gordon of Haddo, Baronet, afterwards Earl of Aberdeen; died 1675 (both children of Sir John Gordon, Bart., of Haddo), whose third son—

III. William Forbes, was in early life a medical practitioner in the town of Aberdeen (Poll-Book of Aberdeenshire, vol. ii., p. 632). Subsequent to 1695 Mr. William Forbes relinquished the medical for the clerical profession, and was for a long period, and up to the date of his death, Minister of Tarves, Aberdeenshire, a living to which he had been presented by his uncle on the mother's side, George, first Earl of Aberdeen. He m<sup>d</sup> Janet, daughter of Professor James Gregory, inventor of the reflecting telescope.—(See family of Gregory, p. 63). Of this union fifteen children were born, who died either young or unmarried, except one son and four daughters, of whom the III., Jean Forbes, m<sup>d</sup> 1737 the Rev. Andrew Moir (see p. 28). For the other three daughters of William Forbes and Janet Gregory see family of Gregory, p. 63. The son—

IV. James Forbes, M.D., of Aberdeen, married—first, Mrs. Helen Forbes, who died s.p. 1743; and secondly, Euphemia Rowe, whose son—

V. William Forbes of Echt and Springhill, Merchant in Aberdeen, had, by his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter of Dr. Thomas Arbuthnott of Montrose, younger brother of John, VI. Viscount Arbuthnott, with a son James Forbes, II. of Echt (of this family), and other issue, a daughter, Euphemia Forbes, married to her cousin, George Garden of Montreal, Merchant, p. 30.

Arms of Forbes of Waterton.—First and fourth, three boars' heads, couped, argent, muzzled, gules, for Forbes; second and third, three unicorns' heads, erased, sable (for marrying Marjory, heiress of Sir Henry Preston of Formartine), by way of surtout, on an escutcheon argent, charged with a sword and key, saltier ways, gules, as Constable of Aberdeen.

ANDERSON OF FINSHAUGH.

(SKENE'S History of the Highlands, vol. ii., § 228.)

This surname, meaning literally the son of Andrew, denoting more probably a son of St. Andrew; that is, a native Scotchman, as indicated by the cross of St. Andrew, the patron saint, in their shield. The Gaelic sept of Anderson are said to be an offshoot of the old potent stem of Clan Anrias, from which also sprang the Macandrews, MacGillanders, and the Gillanderes. One of the chief septs of this race were the Andersons of Candacraig, in Strathdon, Aberdeenshire, of which family there have been ten generations. The Andersons of Finshaugh derive from a very old burgess race of “Bon-Accord,” and appear to be connected with the town of Aberdeen, holding important offices in it, so far back almost as any of the records of the town extend.

I. Gilbert Anderson, Burgess of Aberdeen, who died 2d Feb<sup>r</sup> 1598, m<sup>d</sup> at Aberdeen, 29th May 1576, Janet Moir, who d. 4th May 1601—(inscription on their tombstone given in Menteith's Theatre of Mortality)—and had at least three children, viz.,

Jervise's
“Epitaphs, &c.”

Reg. of St.
Nicholas.

David (of him again) and Christian<sup>1</sup> and Marjory Anderson—(Marjory Anderson must have been a daughter by a former marriage, and thus only a half-sister of “Davie-do-a’-thing”)—who married Andrew Jameson, an architect of Aberdeen. Their son was George Jameson, b. 1586, the celebrated painter, termed “The Scottish Vandyke,” who m<sup>d</sup>, 12th March 1624, Isobel Toasch, and had a large family, of which Mary Jameson married, for her second husband, Prof. James Gregory.—See that family, pp. 62-63.

DAVID ANDERSON, I. OF FINSHAUGH.

II. David Anderson (the son) was an eminent merchant of Aberdeen, and acquired the estate of Finshaugh, or Finzeauch, in the parishes of Keig and Tough, Aberdeenshire. His mathematical genius and taste for practical mechanics, and his ingenuity in turning his skill to account on numberless occasions, won for him the sobriquet of “Davie-do-a’-thing.” His most notable achievement seems to have been the removal, in 1610, of a large rock known by the name of “Crag-Metellan,” or Knock-Maitland, which obstructed the entrance to the Aberdeen harbour. He died 9th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1629. By his wife, Janet Guild, daughter of a wealthy armourer of Aberdeen—probably of Matthew Gwill (or Guild), who was in 1596 “dekin of the Hammerman”—and Mariane Ronaldsoun, m<sup>d</sup> at Aberdeen 6th Nov<sup>r</sup> 1579 (who died in 1667, having endowed a hospital at Aberdeen for the maintenance and education of ten poor orphans), sister of the eminent Dr. William Guild (sometime Principal and Lord Rector of King’s College, Aberdeen), he had, with other issue, a son David, who succ<sup>d</sup> to Finshaugh, and died 19th Dec<sup>r</sup> 1643, whose representatives are the Bannermans, Baronets of Elsick, and a daughter, Janet Anderson, m<sup>d</sup> the Rev. John Gregory of Drumoak; and from this lady the famous mathematical abilities shown by her descendants are presumed to have come.

St. Nicholas

1632. 24 Jan<sup>r</sup>.—Christian Anderson, married George Wilson (eldest lawful son of Duncan Wilson, merchant burgess of Aberdeen), who became “of Finshaugh,” and is represented by the Bannermans.—See Burke’s Peerage and Baronetage, &c.

The way in which this ingenious individual is said to have removed the rock Knock-Maitland, which in 1610 obstructed the entrance to the Aberdeen harbour, is as follows:—"He secured a number of empty casks to the block at low-water (presumably after it had been loosened), and when the flowing tide lifted the mass from its bed, he seated himself on one of the barrels, and, with colours flying, sailed up the harbour, amidst the acclamations of the delighted citizens." Anderson is believed to have put up the sun-dial now in the wall of the Town-House (or probably its predecessor) in 1597. Kennedy, in his Annals of Aberdeen, says, "He was also architect at constructing the steeple of St. Nicholas Church, and placed the weather-cock upon it with his own hands.—Council Reg., vol. xlviii., p. 469."

The picture of David Anderson (by his nephew Jameson) is now in the possession of his descendants the Bannermans, as is also an old chair, with his arms, &c. cut in high relief on it.

1536. 27th May. David Anderson, Burgess of Aberdeen, grants a perpetual annuity of £1 : 8s., arising from a tenement in the Upper Kirkgate, "moved by devotion, and for the good of his soul," to the Chantry and Altar of St. Salvator—Church of St. Nicholas.

From Mortifications fixed up in Town-House, Aberdeen.

"1640. Jean Guild, relict of David Anderson of Finach, Janet Anderson, spouse of Mr. John Gregory, minister at Drumeack, Wil. Thores, son to Mr. Tho. Thores, Minister at Udney, and Geo. Wilson, son to the deceased Geo. Wilson, Merchant Burges of Aberdeen, mortified the heritable and liferent right of the lands and tenements called the Black Friars Manse in Abd., with the barns yards of the samen, with two tenements of land in the Castlegate of the said burgh, and 1700 merks Scots money, for maintaining ten orphans at schools or trades in the town of Aberdeen, whereof each orphan is appointed to have 50 merks Scots per annum."

"1657. Alex<sup>r</sup> Anderson, elder, Burges of Aberdeen, mortified an hundred pounds Scotts to the said burgh, and an hundred pounds Scotts to the Gild Brethern Hospital, reserving the annual rent of both the said sums to himself during his life."—Arms, "Anderson of Finshaugh," see next page.

1537-40. Alexander Anderson, Sub-Principal of University.

Ibid. Professors of Divinity. — 1704-10, George Anderson; 1711-34, David Anderson.

Of the Finsaugh-Anderson family was—

Alexander Anderson—some say a brother, others say a cousin, of "Davie-do-a'-thing,"—born at Aberdeen near the close of the sixteenth century. He soon became known as an eminent mathematician, and was for some time a professor of mathematics at Paris. He published six thin quarto volumes, some of them exhibiting marked ability, and including the posthumous MSS. of Vieta, a celebrated geometrician, which he was chosen to edit.

David Anderson, who went from Aberdeen in the early half of the eighteenth century, and settled as a planter at Kingston, in the Island of Jamaica, was also of this family. He married, and had, with a son David and a daughter Mary, who both died unmarried, another daughter, Margaret Anderson, b. 1757, m<sup>d</sup> 1782 Patrick Gill of Aberdeen; their son was the late David Gill of Blairythan, &c.—See p. 24.

Arms—"ANDERSON OF FINSHAUGH."—Argent, a saltire sable, in chief a crescent gules, in sinister, dexter, and base a mullet gules (so depicted on roof of Town-Hall of Aberdeen).

"The saltire, or cross of St. Andrew's, evidently allusive to the name, is the principal change in 18 out of the 21 entries for the name in the Lyon Register."—Scottish Arms, p. 195.

THE GREGORIES OR MACGREGORS OF ABERDEENSHIRE.

"Nec deficit alter"—(Another succeeds).

The Gregories of Aberdeenshire, a family of which so many members were celebrated for their mathematical genius, settled in that county in or about 1624, and were originally Macgregors, and "counted kin" with the celebrated Rob Roy, to whom they were not very distantly related.

From the introduction to Rob Roy, first ed., pp. liv. to lix. :—
"Rob Roy was sent by the Earl of Mar to Aberdeen to raise, it is believed, a part of the Clan Gregor, which is settled in that country. These men were of his own family (the race of the Ciar Mohr). They were the descendants of about three hundred Macgregors whom the Earl of Murray, about the year 1624, transported from his estates in Monteith to oppose against his enemies the Macintoshes—a race as hardy and restless as they were themselves. But while in the city of Aberdeen, Rob Roy met a relation of a very different class and character from those whom he was sent to summon to arms. This was Dr. James Gregory (by descent a Macgregor), the patriarch of a dynasty of Professors distinguished for literary and scientific talents, and the grandfather of the late eminent physician and accomplished scholar, Professor Gregory of Edinburgh. This gentleman was at the time Professor of Medicine in King's College, Aberdeen, and son of Dr. James Gregory, distinguished in science as the inventor of the reflecting telescope. With such a family it may seem our friend Rob could have had little communion; but civil war is a species of misery which introduces men to strange bed-fellows. Dr. Gregory thought it a point of prudence to claim kindred, at so critical a period, with a man so formidable and influential. He invited Rob Roy to his house, and treated him with so much kindness that he produced in his generous bosom a degree of gratitude which seemed likely to occasion very inconvenient effects. The Professor had a son about eight or nine years old—a lively stout boy of his age—with whose appearance our Highland Robin Hood was much taken.

“On the day before his departure from the house of his learned relative, Rob Roy, who had pondered deeply how he might requite his cousin's kindness, took Dr. Gregory aside, and addressed him to this purport:—‘My dear kinsman, I have been thinking what I could do to show my sense of your hospitality. Now, here you have a fine spirited boy of a son, whom you are ruining by cramming him with your useless book learning, and I am determined, by way of manifesting my great goodwill to you and yours, to take him with me and make a man of him.’ The learned Professor was utterly overwhelmed when his warlike kinsman announced his kind purpose, in language which implied no doubt of its being a proposal which would be, and ought to be, accepted with the utmost gratitude. The task of apology and explanation was of a most delicate description, and there might have been considerable danger in suffering Rob Roy to perceive that the promotion with which he threatened the son was, in the father's eyes, the ready road to the gallows. Indeed, every excuse which he could at first think of—such as regret for putting his friend to trouble with a youth who had been educated in the Lowlands, and so on—only strengthened the chieftain's inclination to patronise his young kinsman, as he supposed they arose entirely from the modesty of the father. He would for a long time take no apology, and even spoke of carrying off the youth by a certain degree of kindly violence, whether his father consented or not. At length the perplexed Professor pleaded that his son was very young, and in an infirm state of health, and not yet able to endure the hardships of a mountain life; but that in another year or two, he hoped his health would be firmly established, and he would be in a fitting condition to attend on his brave kinsman, and follow out the splendid destinies to which he opened the way. This agreement being made, the cousins parted, Rob Roy pledging his honour to carry his young relative to the hills with him on his next return to Aberdeenshire, and Dr. Gregory doubtless praying in his secret soul that he might never see Rob's Highland face again. James Gregory, who thus escaped being his kinsman's recruit, and in all probability his henchman, was afterwards Professor of Medicine in the College, and, like most of his family, distinguished by his scientific acquirements. He was rather of an irritable and pertinacious disposition; and his friends were wont to remark, when he showed any symptoms of these foibles, 'Ah, this comes of not having been educated with Rob Roy.'<sup>1</sup>

The connection between Rob Roy and his classical kinsman did not end with the period of Rob's transient power. At a period considerably subsequent to the year 1715, he was walking in the Castle Street of Aberdeen arm in arm with his host, Dr. James Gregory, when the drums in the barracks suddenly beat to arms, <sup>1</sup> The first of these anecdotes, which brings the highest pitch of civilisation so closely in contact with the half-savage state of society, I have heard told by the late distinguished Dr. Gregory; and the members of his family have had the kindness to collate the story with their recollections and family documents, and furnish the authentic particulars. The second rests on the recollections of an old man who was present when Rob Roy took French leave of his literary cousin on hearing the drums beat, and communicated the circumstance to Mr. Alexander Forbes, a connection of Dr. Gregory's by marriage, who is still alive, 1829. The Gregories of Aberdeenshire descend from a common ancestor, with their famous kinsman, Rob Roy, viz., Dugald Ciar Mohr, or the great mouse-coloured man, a brother of Macgregor of that Ilk, or of Glenstræ, in Perthshire, chief of that ancient clan. Temp. James VI.

and soldiers were seen issuing from the barracks. "If these lads are turning out," said Rob Roy, taking leave of his cousin with great composure, "it is time for me to look after my safety." So saying, he dived down a close, and, as John Bunyan says, "went upon his way, and was seen no more."

GREGORIES OF KINNARDIE, &c., BANFFSHIRE, AND FRENDRAUGHT, &c., ABERDEENSHIRE.

"Altius"—(Higher).

Gregor Macgregor, fourth son of Gregor Macgregor, XII. of that ilk, who died about 1413, was ancestor of this family. Douglas' "Baronage," p. 496.

Their direct ancestor, who appears to have acquired considerable wealth, was—

I. James Gregory, Saddler, Burgess of Aberdeen, who was dead before 27th May 1623, when his son— Scott's "Fasti," part vi., p. 497.

II. The Rev<sup>d</sup> John Gregory<sup>1</sup> was served his heir. In 162 Minister of Drumoak, in Aberdeenshire, "refusing to sign the Covenant, he fled to England, but, returning in June 1639, he was seized in bed on the night of the 2d June 1640 by a party of soldiers, carried before Gen. Monk, and fined. He was reponed, however, in 1641. He was again deposed in 1649, but the Synod Ibid. recommended that the sentence should be taken off. He did not long survive, and his son, Mr. Alexander, was served heir to his very considerable property 31st March 1651." His landed possessions were by no means small, viz., the lands and baronies of Kinnairdie, Conwath or Inverkeithnie, and also (I think) Netherdale, on Devronside, Banffshire, with the lands and barony of Frendraught, in the parish of Forgue, in Aberdeenshire. Mr. Gregory m<sup>d</sup> Janet, dau. of David Anderson of Finshaugh (see p. 56), and by her had at least three sons and three daughters, viz.:—

<sup>1</sup> Few men have produced so many talented and distinguished descendants, and I much regret having neither material nor space for a more full account of a family whose history is in every way so worthy of being recorded.

2. David "of Kinnairdie"<sup>1</sup>—best known by this designation—succeeded to the large landed property of his elder brother, b. 1627-8. Like so many of his family, he also possessed a remarkable turn for mathematical and mechanical knowledge. This gentleman was twice married, and had thirty-two children. He died about 1720.

Three of his sons were professors of mathematics at the same time in three of the British universities, viz. :—

- a. David (b. 1661, m<sup>d</sup> 1695 Elizabeth, dau. of Oliphant of Langtown, M.A. of Baliol, 1692), at Oxford, and Savilian Professor of Astronomy there; died 1710.

III. James Gregory, born Nov<sup>r</sup> 1638, F.R.S. 1668, &c., a distinguished mathematician, and, excepting Newton, the greatest philosopher of his age, was, about 1668, appointed Professor of Mathematics at St. Andrews, and afterwards filled the same chair at Edinburgh. At the age of twenty-four he published Optica Promota, a work of great merit, in which he announced the invention of the reflecting telescope. This being one of the most valuable of modern discoveries, established his reputation in the scientific world. After the publication of this work he visited Italy, and resided for some years at Padua, where he published, in 1667, Vera Circuli et Hyperbolæ Quadratura, which contained another discovery of his own, namely, the invention of an infinitely conveying series for the areas of the circle of the hyperbole.<sup>2</sup> Prof. Gregory had not filled the Mathematical Chair at <sup>1</sup> The Laird of Kinnairdie was also skilled in medicine and philosophy, and, according to Hutton, was the first man in Scotland who kept a barometer, a circumstance which nearly led to his being tried by the presbytery as a wizard.

After passing through the usual course of education at the schools and the college of the place, he went abroad and studied at Antwerp, being fellow student with Vandyke, under the celebrated Rubens. Returned to Aberdeen about 1620, where he prosecuted portrait painting. Married 12th March 1624 Isabel Toasch (who belonged to an old Burgess family of the town), by whom he had several sons and daughters. He was most celebrated as a portrait painter; yet he not unfrequently applied his talent to miniature, and also to history and landscape painting. He painted many portraits of Charles I. and of James VI., as well as of the most of the eminent men who flourished in the beginning of the 17th century, and many of his works are to be found in the possession of the principal families in Scotland. The finest collection of his works is at Taymouth Castle, the seat of the Earl of Breadalbane, whose ancestor, Sir John Campbell of Glenorchy, had been the chief and earliest patron of Jamesone, who had accompanied him in his travels abroad." Jamesone is the first native Scotch painter on record, and is most justly termed "the Vandyke of Scotland." Jamesone died at Edinburgh in 1644, and was buried in Greyfriars' Churchyard there; but no memorial has been erected to his memory. ## THE LATE PATRICK MOIR, Esq.

This highly respected gentleman, the eldest son of the Rev. Dr. Moir, of Peterhead, died at Calcutta more than two years ago. His friend and patron, Lord Minto, paid the last tribute to his worth in the following epitaph, in which his character and merits are most happily delineated<sup>1</sup> :—

Sacred
TO THE MEMORY
OF
PATRICK MOIR, Esq.,
Who died at Calcutta on the 5th of February
A.D. 1810,
IN THE 41ST YEAR OF HIS AGE.

IN 1806 he filled the office of Secretary to Lord Minto, at that time President of the Board of Commissioners for the Affairs of India, whom he accompanied to Bengal in the year 1807, and was appointed Commissioner of the Court of Requests at Calcutta in the same year, a trust which he discharged with integrity, assiduity, and ability to the time of his decease.

His Virtues, Talents, and Accomplishments, all of the highest order, enhanced by a singular Simplicity and Modesty of Character, had attracted in an eminent degree
the Esteem and Regard of the World.

His gentle but cheerful Manners,
his benevolent but warm Affections,
endeared him to numerous Friends,
Whose tender but sorrowful Recollections will long survive him.

He lived respected and beloved,
and died deservedly and universally deplored.

Soft on thy Tomb shall fond Remembrance shed
The warm but unavailing Tear ;
And purple Flowers, that grace the virtuous dead,
Shall strew the lov'd and honour'd Bier.

MOIR OF STONEYWOOD.<sup>1</sup>

The estate of Stoneywood, situated on the River Don, in Aberdeenshire, four miles from the sea, consists of the properties of Stoneywood, Waterton, Clinterty, and Greenburn, united in one barony. It was originally the property of Fraser of Muckills, or Muchalls, but was sold by Lady Fraser, in 1671, to John Moir of Kermuck, or Ellon (b. 1610, ob. 1671).

Tombstone
St. Nicholas,
Aberdeen.

The Moirs of Stoneywood seem, from the earliest record down to their close, to have been devotedly attached to the House of Stuart; and inherited, through Bishop Patrick Scougal, of Aberdeen (the grandfather of Mary Scroggie, who married in 1683, as first wife, James Moir, II. of Stoneywood), the Bible presented by Charles I., when on the scaffold, to his faithful friend Bishop Juxon. Bishop Juxon was, it is understood, a relative of the Scougal family. The grandson of John Moir, I. of Stoneywood, was James Moir, III. of Stoneywood, of whom, and his caird-servant John Gunn, many amusing and interesting stories are told.

The best of these, perhaps, is the rescue of the Earl of Winton in 1715, then under sentence of death in the Tower for his concern in the Rebellion of that period. During his sojourn in the Tower, the authorities allowed his books and family papers to be carried to and from his cell in a hamper. Stoneywood, who happened to be in London with his servant, went to visit his captive friend. John Gunn, who was a man of immense size and strength, undertook, if the Earl put himself, instead of his charters, into the hamper, to convey him out of the Tower. This feat the stalwart Gunn performed with perfect success. Lord Winton retired to Rome, where he died in 1749. The son of this Laird, James Moir, IV. of Stoneywood, born 1710, was one of the Stuarts' keenest supporters in the North, engaged ardently in the Royal cause, and raised the regiment known as "Stoneywood's," of which he was Lieutenant-Colonel. Defeated at Culloden, he, in common with his companions, was proscribed, and roamed for some time in the wilds of Aberdeenshire. An anecdote is told of his taking shelter with a cobbler named Clark, under the name of James Jamieson (a ready rendering of the son of James, his father), and acquitted himself so well in this new line of life as to win commendation from the old man, who said, "Jeemes, my man, what for did ye no tell me ye had been bred a sutor?" "And so I was freend," replied the Laird; "but to tell ye God's truth, I was an idle loon, gey weel-faured, and ower fond o' the lassies, so I joined the Prince's boys, and ye see what's come o't!" It is pleasant to add that Stoneywood, when brighter days came, never forgot the services of his old friends, and maintained the widow and five children of Bartlett (the cobbler in question) at Stoneywood, till the latter were able to support themselves.

After being assisted through many straits by his faithful wife, Margaret Mackenzie of Ardross, and his equally faithful servant, Gunn, who with his gipsy spouse, acted as messengers between husband and wife, Stoneywood followed his Prince's example, and escaped to Norway with some friends. He was protected by the King of Sweden, who conferred on him a patent of nobility; and, becoming a naturalised subject, his lady joined him within a year from his arrival at Gottenburg.

In Scotland, meanwhile, Moir was arraigned before the Edinburgh High Court of Justiciary; but even the testimony of adverse witnesses only went to prove the honour and humanity displayed throughout his soldier life, and he was allowed to return to Stoneywood in 1762, where he died in 1782, leaving a widow and two daughters, his seven sons all having died before their father. Mrs. Moir survived till 1805, dying at the advanced age of ninety-six.

3. Patrick, 26th Feb. 1707. Alex<sup>t</sup> Moir, Regent, a witness.
1. Janet, married 14th June 1733 Patrick Byres, I. of Tonley—see that family.
2. Isabella, died unmarried.

VII. James Moir, III. of Stoneywood (eldest son of James Moir, by his first wife, Mary Scroggie), one of the keenest of the Stuarts' supporters in the North; engaged ardently in the royal cause; raised, and was the Colonel of "Stoneywood's" Regiment; and, as before stated, married Jean, daughter of William Erskine of Pittodrie, by his wife, Mary Grant of Ballindalloch; and died 1782. Issue, five sons and two daughters.

1. James, his heir, b. 1710.
2. Thomas, who having had a quarrel with his brother James when they were both young men, took it so much to heart that he left his father's home clandestinely, and went to sea, having engaged himself as a sailor. He afterwards settled as a merchant in Falmouth. Issue—1. Cap<sup>t</sup> Thomas; 2. James, a Barrister; 3. A dau., m<sup>d</sup> Dr Vivian of Falmouth.

Skene's MS. James Moir, IV. of Stoneywood, having lost his own seven sons, "was very anxious to form a nearer connection by the marriage of his daughter Maria to her cousin James Moir (the Barrister). He intended to have paid a portion to his elder daughter Mrs. Skene, and to settle the estate of Stoneywood on James Moir and his daughter Maria, which upon the eve of accomplishment was defeated by the underhand machinations of Mr. Durno—see sequel—the as yet unrevealed enemy of the family, who feared that the marriage might become the means of bringing his base practices to light. Accordingly he found means to persuade Mr. James Moir that his uncle was deceiving him, and had given a false statement of his affairs, as the estate was drowned in debt, and he only wanted by the marriage to involve Mr. James Moir in his toils, so as to get him to relieve the burdens on the property. Upon obtaining this information the young gentleman thought it prudent to leave Aberdeen, and when he reached England wrote to his uncle stating the cause of his desertion. Miss Moir felt it very severely for a long time, and the disappointment occasioned her withdrawing herself much from society; while her father was so offended as to revive again the disunion which had so long separated the two families."

3. Alexander; 4. William,—both d. abroad unm.; 5. Charles engaged in the Rebellion of 1745. 1. Mary; 2. Clementina, named after Queen Clementina Sobiesky, mother of Prince Charles Edward.

Kennedy's "Annals of Aberdeen,"
vol. i., p. 229. "1745. In the beginning of November Lord Lewis Gordon, who had been appointed by the Prince Lord Lieutenant of the counties of Aberdeen and Banff, made his appearance in the town, accompanied by William Moir of Lonmay, and James Moir of Stoneywood, and assumed the direction of public affairs."

IV. James Moir, IV. of Stoneywood, b. 1710, married at Ardross, in Ross-shire, in Sept' 1740, his cousin Margaret, daughter of Mackenzie of Ardross; and had fifteen children, who mostly died children, excepting Charles (the eighth son), b. 1752, entered the British Army, and was killed in America.<sup>1</sup>

1. Jane married George Skene of Rubislaw, whose descendants now represent this family.
2. Maria married Major Ramsay of the Scotch Brigade, a son of Ramsay of Kinaldie, in Forfarshire (without issue).
This Laird was, like his progenitors, a warm supporter of the Stuarts.

MOIR OF INVERNETTIE.

"Deus deficit"—(God gave).

This family was a cadet of Moir of Stoneywood, and the estate, which is near Peterhead, reverted back to that family on the extinction of the Invernettie line.

James Moir of Invernettie matriculates arms in 1792—see p. 46. His wife probably was Catherine Arbuthnot, as a James Moir of Invernettie marries a sister of John, VI. Viscount Arbuthnot.

William Moir (fourth son of John Moir of Stoneywood, and Jean Sandilands' Sandilands), a merchant in Aberdeen, bought the estate of Inver- "Genealogy," nettie. There is a charter to William Moir, dated 1708, merchant and Skene's in Aberdeen, of the lands of Invernettie. Mr. Moir was suc- MS.

MOIR OF LONMAY, AFTERWARDS OF NEW GRANGE.

I. William Moir,<sup>1</sup> first of the Moirs of Lonmay, in Buchan (was eldest son of James Moir, II. of Stoneywood, by his second wife,

<sup>1</sup> "The estate of Whitehill, Midlothian, had come into the Stoneywood family through inheritance from the Scougals. The Laird seems to have given it to his son William, who, in 1727, has a charter of it, and is styled William Moir of Whitehill, and by a second charter, dated 1732, this William seems to have disposed of Whitehill and purchased Lonmay."

Jean Abernethy—see p. 73). He married a sister of General Fullerton of Dudwick.

1. William, his heir.

1. Isabella.

2. Catherine.

3. Jean, married William Cumine of Pittulie, in Buchan, and by her had Captain Adam Cumine, first of the Cumines of Rattray, near Peterhead.

"Captain Moir, lately (1837) tried and executed in London for having shot a person who was trespassing in his grounds, near London, was the representative of this family."

MOIR OF HILTON.

"Virtute non aliter"—(By virtue, not otherwise).

Reg. of St.
Nicholas,
Aberdeen.

I. William Moir, Advocate in Edinburgh, married 21st May 1666 Isobel, dau. of John Alexander, burgess of Aberdeen, and was admitted in Sept' 1670, jure paternitatis, burgess of Aberdeen. In 1666 he bought the lands of Knaperna, in Udney parish; 1668 those of Fisherie in King-Edward, probably from the Guthries of King-Edward; and in 1674, from the Donaldsons of Hilton, those of Hilton in Ellon parish, all in Aberdeenshire. Between 1672-8 he matriculates arms, and is designed "of Hilton"—see p. 46. About 1682 he sold Hilton to the Roses of Inch, who gave it the name of Rosehill. This family again sold it, about 1693, to the Turners—a family whose progenitors were farmers in the parish of Birse, Aberdeenshire, who gave it its present name of Turnerhall. William Moir, who was one of the Principal Clerks of Session, was M.P. for Kintore 1667; Convention 1669-74.

Lyon Reg.

1672. 5th July. "He was, by order of the Parliament, sent to prison in the Tolbooth of Edinburgh," during the Lord Commissioner's pleasure, "for some words uttered by him tending to the subversion of the constitution of Parliament. He was released on the 10th, having craved pardon of the Commissioner and the Parliament on his knees." Issue—

MOIR OF OTTERBURN.

“Mediocriter”—(With moderation).

I. Mr. Thomas Moir, minister of Morebattle 1610-33, second son of Moir of Abergeldie, co. Aberdeen, married Isabel Ker.

II. Mr. William Moir of Otterburn, in the parish of Morebattle, was served heir of his father 29th October 1639. He acquired Corbethouse; it came into the possession of his widow, Dorothy Ker, 18th September 1673, who married, 6th October 1672, Mr. William Galbraith, minister of Morebattle, and afterwards of Jedburgh, and he disposed Corbethouse to her son 9th April 1687.

III. Thomas Moir of Otterburn and Corbethouse registered arms about 1676, and three sons—Thomas, Andrew, Henry.

IV. Thomas Moir of Otterburn died in May 1756, was succeeded by his son.

V. Andrew Moir of Otterburn, who married Elizabeth Elliott, and had a son.

VI. Thomas Moir of Otterburn, whose estates were sold by judicial sale 4th December 1765, Otterburn to Gilbert Elliot in Jedburgh, Corbethouse to William Ker of Gateshaw, and Rannies-ton to Adam Keir, baker in Edinburgh; he was dead s.p. before 23d July 1783, when his sisters Sarah, Jean, Barbara, Charlotte, Christina, and Elizabeth were his coheirs of provision general.

ABERNETHY OF MAYEN.<sup>1</sup>

"Salus per Christum"—(Safety through Christ).

I. Alexander Abernethy (a cadet of the Abernethies, Lords Saltoun) of Auchencloich, in the parish of Rothiemay, Banffshire, m<sup>d</sup> Isobel, contract dated 30th Nov<sup>r</sup> 1658, dau. (and co-heir with her sisters Christian Hacket, wife of Robert Gordon of Chapel-toune, and Elizabeth Hacket, of Archibald Dunbar of Newton), of Walter Hacket and his wife Jannet Leslye, who had a charter of the lands of Mayen in 1649. Mr. Abernethie bought up the interests of his sisters-in-law in Mayen, and became sole proprietor. Issue—

1. John, his heir.

2. William.

3. "Master" George.

1. Jean or Joan, m<sup>d</sup>, first, William Moir of Scotstoun, see p. 75; and secondly, James Moir of Stoneywood, see p. 73.

2. Christian, m<sup>d</sup> Alexander Hay of Arnboth, who also owned the estate of Tonley; from him it was bought by the ancestors of the Byres family, 8th April 1720. Mr. Hay engaged in the Rebellion of 1715, and was forfeited, although he had a family of eight children; his descendants are now extinct.

<sup>1</sup> Most of the facts about the Abernethys of Mayen were sent me by Captain Dunbar Dunbar of Sea Park, and were taken by him from original documents in the Mayen charter-chest.

In two documents therein is mentioned—"1643, 4th July. Captain Thomas Moore, son of the deceased Thomas Moore in Peterhead, when James Abernethie, servitor to Mr Robert Bruce. Advocatt, is appointed actor, factor, and commissioner for him."

1644, 20th July.—Thomas Moore is designed "Generall-Adjutant of ye Scots Cavilrie" in England, when he gives full power to James Abernethie, Writer and Advocat, to arrest James Ore (Orr) in the Canongate.

1. James, his heir.
1. Jean or Joan, m<sup>d</sup> Dr. William Moir of Spittel, see p. 75.
2. Elizabeth, m<sup>d</sup> the Rev<sup>d</sup> Hugh Innes of Mortlach.

III. James Abernethy, III. of Mayen, married Jane, daughter of Alexander Duff, I. of Hatton. Having unfortunately shot John Leith of Leith Hall in a duel fought in the streets of Aberdeen in Dec<sup>r</sup> 1763, he fled to the Continent, and was outlawed. For an account of this duel, see sequel. Issue—

1. James, his heir, IV. of Mayen, died unm. and intestate 1785, and four daughters, viz. :—
1. Jane (b. 1751, d. 1805), m<sup>d</sup> Major, afterwards Colonel Alexander Duff, 58th Regiment, generally known as "Tiger Duff," so called from a deep seam in his face, inflicted in an encounter in India with a tiger. Their son, Captain William Duff of Mayen, sold that property ; d. 1857.
2. Isobel, m<sup>d</sup> Captain William Graham, 42d Reg<sup>t</sup>, sometime "Master of Ceremonies at Edinburgh" (Skene MS.)—and had issue.

SURNAME OF BYRES.

Like most names, we find it spelt in a variety of ways, Birs, Bires, Byres, de Byres, Byris, Birss, Byrs, Byires, Byrris, Byers, Buyers, &c., and it had no doubt been assumed from the lands of Byres, in the parish and county of Haddington; a district with which the progenitors of the family about to be treated of, appear to have been for some time connected. There is a tradition that the family of Byres was of Hungarian origin, and settled for a time in France, and that the direct ancestor of Byres, of Coates, accompanied Mary of Guise, Queen of James V., to Scotland; but I can find no evidence of this, and as I will afterwards shew, people of this surname held land in Edinburgh in the 14th century. It is worthy of remark, as shewing that the descendants of the Coates family, the Byres of Tonley, who acquired that property in 1718, had some faith in "the Guise story," as one of the principal farms on that estate is called Guise, although there is no such place on the property when the Poll Book of Aberdeenshire was made up, 1695-6. There are also other places of the name of Byres in Scotland, as one in the county of Perth, another near Fochabers, in Morayshire, &c. Mr Stodart, Lyon Depute, suggests that in some cases, the name in Aberdeenshire may have been assumed from the parish of Birse, in that county. The surname is certainly occasionally written Birs, &c. See above. There was a family named Byres, long settled in Northamptonshire; in the time of Edward IV., a Miss Byres marries William Kingscote, in the county of Gloucester.

The family of Byres, of Coates, rose to wealth and station as merchant burgesses of Edinburgh, and acquired that property by purchase from the Kincalds, as will be afterwards shewn; and their probable progenitors were long connected with the counties of Midlothian, Haddington, Lanark, &c.

“BYRES CLOSE”—AND COATES HOUSE.

From Old and New Edinburgh, vol. i., p. 153.—
“Prior to the year 1811, there remained unchanged in the Luckenbooths two lofty houses of great strength and antiquity, one of which contained the town residence of Sir John Byres, Bart. of Coates, an estate now covered by the west end of New Edinburgh. He was a gentleman who made a great figure in the city during the reign of James VI., but no memories of him now remain, save the alley called Byres Close, and his tomb in the west wall of the Greyfriars' Churchyard, the inscription on which, though nearly obliterated, tells us that he was treasurer, baillie, and dean of guild of Edinburgh, and died in 1629, in his sixtieth year."

There are several inaccuracies in the above statement. Sir John Byres of Coates was a simple Knight, not a Baronet, and was son of John Byres I. of Coates, the Treasurer, &c., of Edinburgh, who died in 1629, in his sixtieth year, and it was to him, and not to his son Sir John Byres, that the tombstone was erected.

COATES HOUSE (CALLED EASTER COATES).

Ibid., vol. ii., pp. 115-16.—"The lands and houses of Easter and Wester Coates lay westward of Bearfold's Parks and the old Ferry Road. The former edifice, a picturesque old mansion, with turrets, dormer windows, and crow-stepped gables, in the Scoto-French style, still remains unchanged, among its changed surroundings, as when it was built—probably about 1611—by Sir John Byres, of Coates, whose town residence was in Byres Close, in the High Street, and over the door of which he inscribed the usual pious legend, 'Blissit be God in al his giftis,' with the initials of himself and his lady. This lintel was removed by the late Sir Patrick Walker, who had succeeded to the estate, and was rebuilt by him into the present ancient house, which is destined long to survive as the deanery of St Mary's Cathedral. Into the walls of the same house were built some fragments of sculpture from a mansion in the Cowgate, traditionally known as the residence of the French embassy in Mary's time. They are now in the north wing. On the eastern side of the mansion of Coates are two ancient lintels, one dated 1600 with the initials C.C.I. and K.H.; the other bears the same initials, with the legend, 'I prays ye Lord For All His Benefetis—1601.' On the west a dormer gable bears the date 1615, with the initials—J.B.M.B., that is, John Byres, and Margaret Barclay, his first wife,—and a stone built above the western door bears in large letters the word Jehova, with the city motto, and the date 1614. Prior to the time of the Byres the property had belonged to the Lindsays, as in the ratification of Parliament to Lord Lindsay in 1592 are mentioned 'the landis of Dene, but the mylnes and mure thereof, and their pertenents lyand within the Sherifdom of Edinburgh, the manes of Drym, the lands of Drymhill, the lands of Coittis, and Coitakirs,' &c." (Acta Parl. Jacobi VI.)

1576, 22d March, the will of Johne Johnestoun of the Cottis, burgess of Edinburgh, is recorded. Perhaps he is ancestor of the Johnstons, who appear to have been related to Agnes Smyth, II. wife of John Byres I. of Coates, see p. 107. Afterwards Coates belonged to the Kincaids, who sold it to John Byres early in the 17th century. By the last family it was sold to Lord Roseberry in 1702. Sir Patrick Walker, the late owner of the estate, succeeded his father, the Rev<sup>d</sup> William Walker (of Old Meldrum, Aberdeenshire), who bought the property.

JOHN BYRES, I. OF COATES.

"Rule be one."

I. John Byres, born circa 1569, I. of Coates, an eminent and leading merchant burghess (admitted 1595, see p. 147) of Edinburgh, was two years Bailie, six years Treasurer, six years, 1619-24, Dean of Guild, and two years Old Provost of the capital of Scotland.

Acts of Parliament of Scotland, vol. iv. pp. 606 and 629.

Mr Byres was one of the commissioners appointed by James VI., "anent the plantation of kirks, as sit unplantit," and also in the commission by the same monarch in 1621, "anent moneyis."

Privy Council Records, vol. v. p. 764.

1597. 14th Sept'. Robert Jolie, burghess of Edinburgh, "being in his voyage towards Burdeaux in France, and uncertain of his return, is not able to keep the day appointed for his compearance for the pursuit of the suspension raised by him against the Treasurer and Advocat. Wherefore there is a warrant under the sign manual, and countersigned by J. Lindesay, secretary to John Andro, to delete the act of caution whereby Jolie has found John Dougall, and John Byris, sureties for his compearance upon 11th November next.

Ibid. p. 688.

1598. 28th April. "Johnne Robertsoun younger, merchant burghess of Edinburgh, appears for Johnne Byris, merchant burghess there, to satisfy the comptroller for the custom of 30 lasts of beens, imported by him."

Ibid. p. 704.

1598. 14th Sept'. At Edinburgh, "Johnne Byris, merchant burghess of Edinburgh, appears for Johnne Ros, minister at Dumbartane, to make the teind sheaves of the parsonage of Dumbartane furthcoming to all parties having interest." John Byres acquired early in the 17th century, probably about 1610, by purchase from the Kincaids, the estate of Coates, in the parish of St. Cuthbert's, as well as other property (see Extracts from Sasines, p. 161), on which so much of the west end of Edinburgh is now built, and erected the present interesting old mansion house, likely in 1615. For an account of it see pp. 4, 5. This laird of Coates, who was a man of very considerable influence and importance, died in 1629, and there is a very fine monument to his memory, erected by his widow Agnes Smyth, and children, see p. 143. By his first wife, Dame Margaret Barclay, who had probably been of the ancient house of Barclay of Towie, in Aberdeenshire, who died 12th Jan<sup>y</sup> 1616, (for a copy of her will see p. 148), he appears to have had daughters only.

6. James, who must have been born 1628-30. (John Byres, his reputed father, having died in Nov<sup>r</sup> 1629), merchant of Aberdeen—see p. 114—ancestor of Byres of Tonley. In the pedigree before quoted, this James is called “son of James Byres, younger brother of Sir John Byres of Coates, who served under the Marquis of Montrose, and was slain fighting under his command at the battle of the Bridge of Dee, near Aberdeen, in 1644,” &c. I have, however, found this pedigree, written about 1773, so very incorrect and unreliable, that I am inclined to think the doughty Captain James Byres a mythical personage. For the present I am not sorry to say farewell to this warrior, who I hope, if he ever existed, caused the gallant Montrose much less trouble and thought, than he has occasioned the writer of this family history.

SIR JOHN BYRES, II. OF COATES.

II. Sir John Byres, II. of Coates, and I. of Warrestone, born as before stated in Feby. 1619; educated at the University of Edinburgh, M.A. 25. July 1635; served heir to his father in the lands of Coates, &c., by precept of Clare, 2d Nov<sup>r</sup> 1630; in Sasine termed "a discreet young man," see p. 164. Sir John Byres, who acquired the estate of Warrestone, county Edinburgh, was a devoted loyalist, and engaged in the civil wars of that period. He was knighted for his services between the years 1640-3, see p. 165, and was shortly afterwards imprisoned at S<sup>t</sup> Andrews. Warrant (see p. 143).

Sir John, who "made a great figure" in the city and neighbourhood of Edinburgh, see p. 99, married Isobel Auchmuty, doubtless a daughter of Sir John Auchmuty of Gosford, descended of the old family of Auchmuty of that ilk,<sup>1</sup> in the parish of Markinch, and county of Fife, and was dead in 1648, when his will is recorded. Copy—see p. 154.

"1632, 30. Jan<sup>r</sup>, M<sup>r</sup> Johne Byres, of Cotts, is a witness to the baptism of John, son to William Fairlie, of Bruntsfield, and Margaret Skeene."

"1642, July 10, Sir John Byres, and M<sup>r</sup> Robert Byres, are witnesses to the baptism of William (their brother by half blood), son of M<sup>r</sup> James Reid, minister, and Agnes Smyth, the relict of John Byres, I. of Coates.

JOHN BYRES, III. OF COATES.

III. John Byres,<sup>1</sup> of Coates, born 1639, described in genealogy before referred to as "a man of parts, but much addicted to gallantry and pleasure, and having an expensive turn, spent his estate," &c. He had not been like his father, the gallant Sir John, "a discreet young man."

Sasines.

This laird had an annuity out of the lands of Ruthven, in Inverness-shire. 12. May 1676, he married first, Jean Foulis (a daughter of the family of Foulis, Baronets of Ravelstoun and Colinton, Midlothian), probably the Jean Foulis, bap. 16. Jany. 1637, dau. of George Foulis of Ravelstoun, and Jean, dau. of Sir John Sinclair. Arms of Foulis: Argent, three laurel leaves slipped, proper.

1. George, bap. 30. Oct' 1659. Witnesses, George Foulis of Ravelstoun; M<sup>r</sup> James Reid, Minister at St Cuthbert's Kirk; M<sup>r</sup> John Foulis; and John Stuart, merchant.

John Byres married 2<sup>dly</sup>, (contract, copy of, see p. 144, dated at Cupar-of-Fife 26. May 1666), Lillas, eldest daughter of Sir John Grant of that ilk, and Freuchie (progenitor of the Earls of Seafield), by Mary, daughter of Walter Lord Ogilvie of Deskford, and by her is believed to have had at least <sup>1</sup> This laird is said to have left "a natural son, John Byres, who was bred to business by his relative, Robert Byres of Dublin; after whose death, John Byres, about the year 1720, went to the East Indies, and at Fort St. George married a Portuguese lady, by whom he got a fortune, and had by her a son, John Byres, who inherited his fortune, and was lately at London," 1773.

Mary, who died unmarried, having lived latterly with her aunt, the Marchioness of Huntly; she made her will 2d May 1734, recorded 16th April 1740; in it she makes her cousin-german, Anne Byres, relict of . . . Anderson, merchant, Edinburgh, her sole heir and executor, "for the love and affection she bears her." She had an annuity, dated 9th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1702, of £20 sterling yearly, from Archibald, Viscount Roseberry, out of the lands of Coates, in which year that property was sold to the Primroses.

II. JAMES BYRES OF ABERDEEN.

St. Nicholas's
Reg. Abdn.

II. James Byres (presumed younger son of John Byres, I. of Coates, and Agnes Smyth—see p. 109) was married at Aberdeen 16. July 1667, to Janet Middleton,<sup>1</sup> stated to be a daughter of Middleton of Stenhouse. She was born circa 1637, and died at Aberdeen 25. Nov<sup>r</sup> 1695, and is interred in St. Nicholas Churchyard there. Copy of inscription on tombstone, see p. 143.

Family

<sup>1</sup> The surname of Middleton is derived from the lands of Middleton, in the county of Kincardine. Sir George Mackenzie, a contemporary of both the Earls of Middleton, says, Middleton beareth parti per fesse, or, and gules, a lion rampant, counter charged of one and the other. Towards the close of the 17th century, this family owned considerable property in Aberdeen-shire, and were Principals of the University, Lairds of Seaton, near Old Aberdeen, Sheils, &c.

the Scots Expedition to Darien, and on that account was commonly known by the appellation of 'King of Darien.' He lost his life and fortune in that expedition, being killed by a French privateer in his passage home from Lisbon, on board the packet ' . . . . ' The failure of the Darien Scheme, through the influence of the Dutch East India Company with William III., brought numerous families in Scotland to ruin, made the existing government very unpopular, and was a great means of fomenting the rebellion of 1715." Mr. Byres married . . . . . , dau. of . . . . . Gellie, baillie of Aberdeen, see p. 87, and left an only son, who died an infant.

There are still people of this rather singular surname in Aberdeen. William Souper, probably of this family, of the Hon. E. I. Co.'s Service, married in 1800, Harriet Dempster, heiress of Dunnichen in Forfarshire, and Skibo in Sutherlandshire, and assumed the surname and arms of Dempster.

GORDONS OF HALLHEAD AND ESSLEMONT.

2. Isabel Byres (2d dau. of James Byres II. and Janet Middleton), bap. 12. May 1670, be M<sup>r</sup> Geo. Meldrum. Ja<sup>s</sup> Webster, Alex<sup>r</sup> Walker, Gilbert Leslie, &c., godfathers. Married Robert Gordon of Aberdeen, merchant, treasurer of that town in 1688. He was afterwards a wine merchant at Bordeaux, where he amassed a considerable fortune, and was not only able to buy from his nephew, Patrick Gordon XII. of Hallhead, the old family property, which, through that laird's extravagance, would otherwise have had to pass out of the family, but also, in 1728, the ancient barony of Esslemont, in the parish of Ellon.

Registers of
St. Nicholas,
Aberdeen;
and Pedigree,
Gordon of Hallhead.

Robert Gordon XIII. of Hallhead, and I. of Esslemont, had by Isabel Byres—

1. George Gordon, XIV. of Hallhead, &c., who warmly espoused the cause of Charles Stuart, and was out in the "45," married Amy Bowdler; their descendant and eventual heiress, Anne Gordon, dau. of Robert Gordon of Hallhead, &c., married 1856, Henry Wolrige-Gordon, J.P. and D.L., now of Hallhead and Esslemont, and has issue.
2. James Gordon, bap. 18. April 1693. M<sup>r</sup> James Moir, Regent in Mareschal Coll., and James Byres, writer, son to the deceased James Byres, mer<sup>t</sup>, godfathers.
3. Alexander Gordon, married Jane Grierson, and had issue.
1. Janet Gordon, bap. 24. Aug<sup>t</sup> 1690. John Gordon, factor in Campveir, and collectors of their Majesties' Customs, &c., godfathers.
2. Margaret Gordon, bap. 31. Jany. 1692. David Aedie of New-work, &c., godfathers.
3. Isobell Gordon, 21. April 1694. W<sup>m</sup> Souper of Gilcomston, Patrick Gellie, &c., godfathers.
4. Jean Gordon, bap. 9. June 1695.
5. Jean Gordon, bap. 21 Dec<sup>r</sup> 1710.

Of the daughters of Robert Gordon XIII. of Hallhead, and Isabel Byres, one married . . . . Russell, Professor of Natural Philosophy, University of Edinburgh; and another married John Black of Bordeaux, merchant, and had D<sup>r</sup> John Black, the celebrated chemist; and Isobel Black, who married James Burnett of Aberdeen, merchant, see p 181. Their daughter, Margaret Burnett, became in 1770

the wife of her relation, Robert Byres of Kincraigie and Memel, see p. 124.

The Byres' of Tonley are thus lineal descendants of Robert Gordon and Isabel Byres, aunt of Patrick Byres I. of Tonley.

3. Elspet Byres (3rd dau. of James Byres II. and Janet Middleton), bap. 31. Aug<sup>t</sup> 1671. John Christie, John Archibald, W<sup>m</sup> Thomson, and Robert Gerard, godfathers.

In the pedigree of Croker of Rawleighstown, Co. Limerick, vol. 8, p. 382 of the Herald and Genealogist, a dau. of Edward Croker and Mary Buckner married . . . Byres.

III. ROBERT BYRES OF DUBLIN.

III. Robert Byres,<sup>1</sup> b. 1675, burgess of Aberdeen (2nd son of James Byres of Aberdeen, and Janet Middleton), settled first in Holland as a merchant. Returning from there I find him witness to a service, Dunbar, of Mill of Balcairn, Aberdeenshire, 10 May 1700 (Sheriff-Court Records). He married in Sept<sup>r</sup> 1704, Jean, dau. of Patrick Sandilands of Cotton, near Aberdeen, by his 1st wife, Margaret, dau. of William Ord of Cairnbee, in Fifeshire—see family of Sandilands, p. 180. And Nov<sup>r</sup> 4, 1704, M<sup>r</sup> and Mrs Byres went to Dublin—see register in Tonley family Bible, p. 147. There Robert Byres “carried on a very considerable trade, and both his credit and reputation were very great, both at home and abroad.”—Family Memoir. He made his will, which is duly recorded at Dublin, 6 May 1712—copy, see p. 186—and was accidentally drowned in the Bay of Dublin shortly after that date. His widow, Mrs. Jean Sandilands or Byres, returned to Aberdeenshire; and she, and her late husband's trustees, bought from Alexander Hay of Arnbath, the barony of Tonley in that county (p. 82), 8th April 1718, of which place Patrick Garioch was laird, 1695-6.—Poll Book. Mrs Jean Sandilands was dead before 4 Aug<sup>t</sup> 1730. At that date her last will and testament is recorded in the Commissary

Edinburgh
Wills.

<sup>1</sup> 1735, 2 Jany. Will given up by Patrick Byres of Tonley, only executor, decerned as nearest of kin to him by decret of the Commissary of Edinburgh, 21 June 1734. Household furniture, £100, &c. Cautioner, James Moir, son of M<sup>r</sup> Alexander Moir, Professor of Philosophy, Edinburgh.

Books of Aberdeen. Issue, two sons and three daughters :—

1. James, born 27. Jany. 1709, died 19 May 1713, and was interred under the chancel of St. Mary's, Dublin.
2. Patrick, born 13. May 1713, his heir Of him again (1st "Byres of Tonley").
1. Margarete, born 17. Aug<sup>t</sup> 1705, died 24 Dec<sup>r</sup> 1706, buried under the chancel of St. Mary's, Dublin. Family Bible. See p. 146.
2. Janet, born 25. Oct<sup>r</sup>, and bap. 15 Nov<sup>r</sup> 1706; died 5. Feby. 1709. Interred beside her sister.
3. Jean, born 24. Sept<sup>r</sup> 1711, and bap. 12 Oct<sup>r</sup> following.

IV. PATRICK BYRES, I. OF TONLEY.

“Marte suo tutus” (Safe by his own exertions).

IV. Patrick Byres (2d son of Robert Byres of Dublin, and Jean Sandilands), born at Dublin, 13 May 1713, I. of Tonley,—of this family,—became, through the extinction of the elder branch, representative of the Byres of Coates, in the county of Edinburgh, and as such registers his arms, 7 Feby.

Family Bible. 1755—see p. 142. Mr Byres m<sup>d</sup> 14. June 1733, his relative, Janet, dau. of James Moir, M.P., of Stoneywood, on Donside, by his 2<sup>d</sup> wife, Jean, dau. of Alexander Abernethy of Maye<sup>n</sup> on Deveron side—see p. 82, county Banff—(see family of Moir of Stoneywood, p. 73); and Oct<sup>r</sup> 8. same year, settled at Tonley. Mrs Byres (who was buried at Tough, in which parish Tonley is, Sept<sup>r</sup> 1787) was sister of Col. James Moir of Stoneywood—see that family, p. 73—one of the most zealous of the Stuarts' adherents. Patrick Byres, known as the “Jacobite Laird,” was “out” in the “45,” and engaged ardently in the cause of Charles Edward Stuart, and was a major in the regiment (known as “Stoneywood's Regt”) raised by his brother-in-law, the above Col. James Moir.

Register
of Tough.

“After fighting at the battle of Culloden, he was concealed in the Castle of Cluny, near Tonley, by his friend, Gordon of Cluny, until he got an opportunity of escaping to France. He entered into the regiment of Royal Scotch in France, commanded by Cameron of Lochiel, and was exempted from the first pardon, and would have lost Tonley, but through the interest of his friends it was made to appear that the offending Jacobite was called Patrick and not Peter Byres (as his name had been entered in the list), therefore his estate was not liable to be confiscated, and he was eventually allowed to return to his Highland home in Scotland." For some interesting letters from Patrick Byres during his banishment in France, &c.—see p. 169; and for the account of a duel fought between John Leith of Leith Hall, and James Abernethy of Mayen, in 1763, and in which Patrick Byres was unfortunately mixed up—see p. 175.

From Memoir of James Young and Rachel Cruickshank, by my late worthy friend, Alexander Johnston, W.S.,—"It must have been a good many years subsequent to the death, in 1763, of John Leith of Leith Hall—see p. 175—that a quarrel arose between a near kinsman of that gentleman, the late Alexander Leith of Freefield and Glenkindie (father of the late M<sup>r</sup> Leith-Ross of Arnage—see p. 23), and Patrick Byres of Tonley, at a meeting at Bridge of Alford, of gentlemen connected with Donside. The altercation is said to have originated as to a road recently made in that vicinity, and which is understood still to exist. High words having passed between Freefield and M<sup>r</sup> Byres, they left the inn at Bridge of Alford, in which the company had met, and proceeded to the green close by, where the two engaged in single combat with the weapons which then formed part of the every-day dress of persons of their rank. It is not recorded that any bodily injury accrued to either combatant; they had, most probably, been speedily separated by the interference of the rest of the company assembled on the occasion under notice. This is said to have been the last rencontre in the way of duelling in that part of Scotland, in which the small sword was the weapon used. The exact date of the incident has not been ascertained, but it had likely taken place several years before the close of last century."

Patrick Byres (who was in June 1741 admitted a Burgess of Guild of Aberdeen) had issue by his wife, Janet Moir, four sons and three daughters, viz. :—

1. James, bap. 7. May 1734, his heir, II. of Tonley.

Family Bible.

2. Robert of Kincaigie, bap. 12. Dec<sup>r</sup> 1740, merchant, of Memel, in Prussia, and London. He bought the estate of Kincaigie† from the Leslies, 8. Dec<sup>r</sup> 1786, which adjoins Tonley, and the old mansion of Kincaigie, with additions, is the present mansion-house of the property. "The auld hous," or part of it, is now the farm house of Mains of Tonley; and a stone, evidently belonging to it, bears the date, 1735. Robert Byres m<sup>d</sup> his relative (contract dated 12. Nov<sup>r</sup> 1770), Margaret, dau. of James Burnett, merchant of Aberdeen, descended of the Dalladies branch of the house of Leys—see p. 181. He possessed considerable property at St. Pierre, Martinique, which he had gone to look after, and where he died, 17. Nov<sup>r</sup> 1799. Issue, two sons and two daughters :—

† But the title was taken in favour of James Byres II. of Tonley, his brother, as specified in a deed dated Nov<sup>r</sup> 1794.

1. James (from Reg. of parish of Tough).
 "1794, Sept<sup>r</sup> 24, Died, James Byres, son of Robert Byres, brother to the present
 M<sup>r</sup> James Byres of Tonley. The death of this young man was occasioned by an

2. Patrick; of him again, as III. Byres of Tonley.
  1. Isabella, m<sup>d</sup> (as 2d wife) Lieut.-Col. James Stewart, of the 42<sup>d</sup> Highlanders, youngest son of Charles Stewart of Shambellie, in the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright. No issue.
  2. Janet; died unmarried.
3. William, born 29. Oct<sup>r</sup> 1742. "He always was a delightful child. He served in the Navy;
 was appointed one of the King's surveyors, and dyed in St. Vincent's in 1764-5. He always behaved well"—see Reg. in family Bible, p. 147. Tablet to his memory in church of Tough.
4. John, born 31. March 1745. A captain Royal Engineers, Hon. E. I. Co.'s Service. He made a fine model of Gibraltar, which is now in the Museum of the Royal Engineers at Chatham. Captain Byres married (contract dated 1st Oct<sup>r</sup> 1744) Isobel, dau. of James Donaldson, M.D., of Auchmull, by his wife, Katherine Gordon, of the family of Pitlurg—see Donaldson of Auchmull, p. 185

—and died 17. Sept<sup>r</sup> 1788. Issue, two daughters and co-heiresses :—

1. Katherine Byres, married, 1800, her cousin-german, John Moir of St Catherine's, Peterhead, artist, and had issue.—See family of Moir, pp. 32, 33.
2. Janet Byres, married, 1802, her cousin-german, James Moir, M.D., elder brother of John Moir of St. Catherine's, and had issue.—See family of Moir, p. 36.
1. Jane, born 6. July 1735, married John Durno, J.P., of Cattie, now Whitehouse, in the parish of Tough, Aberdeenshire. M<sup>r</sup> Durno, who was b. 1741, was an advocate in Aberdeen. At his decease, which occurred in the island of Jamaica, in Dec<sup>r</sup> 1816, he was the senior member of the Society of Advocates of Aberdeen, and also the oldest life manager of the Royal Infirmary there. A brother of his was Sir James Durno, Knight of Arbroath, H.M.B. Consul at Memel, in Prussia, who died in 1807. Jane Byres or Durno died without surviving issue.
2. Isabella, born 15. April 1737, married Robert Sandilands, who is stated, on slender authority, to have been heir-presumptive to the title of Torphichen. He had, more probably, been a relative of his wife's, a Sandilands of the Craibston, or Cotton families. This lady, who also died without issue, was killed by a fall from a pony carriage.
3. Martha, born 6. July 1739, married in 1766 the Rev<sup>d</sup> D<sup>r</sup> George Moir of Peterhead—see family of Moir, p. 31—and had issue.

In the diary of the Rev<sup>d</sup> John Bisset of Aberdeen, of which part is printed in Vol. I. of the Miscellany of the Spalding Club, occurs under date Feby. 3, 1746, the following paragraph:—"Yesterday, came in here from the south, Lonmay (William Moir), Tonlay (Patrick Byres, I. of Tonley), Robert Sandilands, Charles Moir, and one they call Captain Ferrier; and I am told four more gentlemen came at night whose names or designations I have not yet got."

JAMES BYRES, II. OF TONLEY.

Family Bible. V. James Byres (eldest son of Patrick Byres I. of Tonley, and Janet Moir of Stoneywood), II. of Tonley, born 7. May 1734, and bap. by M<sup>r</sup> Patrick Laing; my Lord Forbes, godfather. Like his father, this laird was a devoted Jacobite, and was for some time an officer in Lord Ogilvie's regiment, under the French king. Being mostly educated in France, M<sup>r</sup> Byres adopted the Roman Catholic faith. He was much devoted to the fine arts, and was for nearly forty years, before 1790, antiquarian resident at Rome, and was author of "Hypogaei, or Sepulchral Caverns of Tarquinia," the capital of ancient Etruria. The engravings in this work, which are very fine, were executed by his nephew, M<sup>r</sup> Christopher Norton, who lived for many years with his uncle at Rome. It has always been understood in the family that James Byres was a lay-cardinal at Rome, and a fine oil painting of him, in his cardinal robes, is at Tonley. There is also, at least, another good picture of him there, as well as one at Castle Fraser, the seat of the Mackenzie-Fraser, near Tonley. But the finest portrait of this gentleman, by Raeburn, is now in the possession of M<sup>r</sup> David Scott-Moncrieff of Edinburgh. The following extracts from "John Leech, and Other Papers," by John Brown, M.D., the talented author of "Rab and his Friends," &c., are interesting. On Sir Henry Raeburn, p. 420, "Byres, Barry's antagonist, gave him an advice he ever after followed, and often spoke about : ' Never paint any object from memory, if you can get it before your eyes.' Again, speaking of Sir Henry Raeburn's pictures, then 1882, at Charlesfield, Mid-Calder, near Edinburgh, the residence of Sir Henry's grandson, L. W. Raeburn, at p. 432 Dr Brown says, " Besides many others, over the fireplace is a life-size portrait of Mr Byres of Tonley, whom we have mentioned as at Rome with Raeburn : this was painted long after, and is of the first quality, done with the utmost breadth of felicity. The ruffles of his shirt are still of dazzling whiteness, as if bleached by the burn side."

From Tough parish register : " 1796, Feb. 3, James Byres of Tonley, and Robert Byres, Esq., residing there, were witnesses to the bap. of Patrick, son of the Rev. Alexander Urquhart."

This laird united the two properties of Tonley and Kinraigie, and entailed them on a series of heirs, besides doing much to beautify and improve these estates.

PATRICK BYRES, III. OF TONLEY.

VI. Patrick Byres, III. of Tonley (eldest surviving son of Robert Byres of Memel, and Margaret Burnett), born circa 1778, was a major-general in the Hon. E. I. Co.'s Service, succeeded to the family property on the death of his uncle, James Byres, in 1817; married, first, Jessie, dau. of Lieut.-Col. Denny, and had an only son.

1. James, a lieut. in the 1st Royals; accidentally drowned at Athlone, Ireland.

The General m<sup>d</sup> 2ndly, in April 1834, his cousin-german, Margaret, eldest dau. of Lieut.-Col. Joseph Burnett of Gadgirth, Ayrshire, without issue,—see family of Burnett,—and died 1st Feby. 1854, and was interred at Tough, where there is a tombstone erected to his memory. The succession then opened to the next heir of entail, Patrick Moir, eldest son of Katherine Byres, cousin-german of Gen. Byres, and her husband, John Moir, of S<sup>c</sup> Catherine's. See p. 33.

PATRICK MOIR-BYRES, IV. OF TONLEY.

VII. Patrick Moir Byres, IV. of Tonley (eldest son of Katherine Byres, and her husband John Moir of S<sup>t</sup> Catherine's, see p. 33), b. 1802, succeeded 1854 his cousin General Byres, and assumed the additional surname and arms of "Byres of Tonley"; was a Magistrate and Commissioner of Supply for Aberdeenshire; died at Tonley, unmarried, in 1863, and was interred at Tough. He was succeeded by his next brother.

JAMES GREGORY MOIR-BYRES,
V. OF TONLEY.

James Gregory Moir-Byres, V. of Tonley. Born 17 Nov<sup>r</sup> 1804; married in May 1858 Mary, dau. of Henry Prideaux Hensleigh,<sup>1</sup> surgeon, of London, by Mary Norrington, his wife, and relict of the Rev. ARMS OF THE SURNAME OF BYRES, FROM THE LYON REGISTERS, &c.

1625-49. In "Gentleman's Arms," a collection dating from the reign of Charles I.—

Byres, azure on a chevron, between three bees volant, argent, a crescent, gules.

1661. From MS. of Arms by Robert Porteous, Snowdon Herald—Byres, of Strathaven (in Lanarkshire), azure, a chevron argent, between three bees volant, arriereé, or.

He gives the same for Sir John Byres of Coates, with the motto, "Rule be One." The crest as given in Fairbairn is a bee, as in the arms.

The Byres arms impaled with the arms of Smith of Groithill, viz., azure, a burning cup, or, are so depicted on the monument to John Byres of Coates, in the Greyfriars' Churchyard, Edinburgh, who died in 1639. Mr R. R. Stodart, the talented author of "Scottish Arms," &c., in that valuable work says:—"In 1755, arms were registered by Patrick Byres of Tonley, in Aberdeenshire, stated to be representative of 'the family of Coatts,'—azure, a chevron, argent, between three martlets volant, or. Why the bees were changed to martlets it is difficult to see, as they are distinctly drawn and described in several verbal blazons."

1735. "Patrick Byres, Esquire of Tonley, in vicecomitatu de Aberdeen, descended from Sir John Byres of Coatts, in vicecomitatu Laudoniæ, and now representing the said family of Coatts, bears, azure, a chevron, argent, between three martlets volant, or. Crest, a cock regardant proper. Motto, 'Marte suo Tutus.'—Matriculated, 7th Feby. 1755."

III.—POSTNUPTIAL CONTRACT between JOHN BYRES of COATES and LILIAS GRANT of Grant (or that Ilk), 1666.

From Fraser's History of the "Chiefs of Grant," vol. iii, pp. 463 and 464.

1666. Contract between JOHN BYRES of Coates, and LILIAS GRANT, lawful daughter to the deceased [JAMES] GRANT of that Ilk, as follows :—

JOHN BYRES, for fulfilling his part of the agreements made and concurred in before the marriage solemnised between him and Liliash Grant, and for other causes to be shortly stated, becomes bound with all possible diligence to infest and sease his said spouse in liferent in all and whole the annual rent of ten chalders good and sufficient bear, with a hundred and twenty pounds Scots for the rent of a dwelling-house to her to dwell in, to be uplifted in equal portions at Whitsunday and Martinmas, free of all teind duties, minister's stipends, or other burdens whatsoever, forth of all and whole the lands of Coates, comprehending the lands, acres, tenements, superiorities, and others mentioned in John Byres's infestment of the same, with houses and pertinents thereof, in the regality and barony of Broughtoun, and sheriffdom of Edinburgh, or forth of any portion of these lands, and readiest maills and duties of the same, by double charters and infestments, the one to be held of John Byres and his heirs, and the other of the immediate superiors of the lands, in free blench farm, for the yearly payment of one penny if asked, he also binding himself to complete, seal, subscribe, and deliver to Liliash charters and other necessary writs to that effect, containing ample warrandice in the manner afterwards laid down; also John Byres becomes bound to warrant and defend the above infestments in all the terms of them as there specified, in liferent, from all perils, dangers, and inconveniences whatsoever, whereby Liliash might be hindered or prejudged in the peaceable possession of the same. John Byres further comes under obligation to provide to the heirs-male procreated between them as much of the lands and estate of Coates as will extend in yearly rent to ten chalders of bear; and if there should only be female heirs, to divide the ten chalders of bear among them, by the advice of one or two friends chosen by either of the parties, by whose advice the heirs-female referred to are obliged to marry—entry to the rents and duties of the ten chalders to be at the first term of Whitsunday or Martinmas after his decease. In the mean time, John Byres binds himself to sustain, entertain, educate, and upbring the foresaid children in a manner becoming their rank and estate; providing that if George Byres, his eldest son, shall depart this life, so that the children had between John and Liliash shall succeed to the whole estate, the obligation to provide ten chalders of bear shall be null; and in case of such event, John Byres binds himself to add to the liferent provision of Liliash, his spouse, the manor-place of Coates, with the houses, buildings, pertinents, and others belonging thereto, in lieu of the one hundred and twenty pounds, together with a yearly duty of three chalders of victual further to be uplifted of the lands and at the terms before stated, to be over and above the ten chalders of bear already provided to her in liferent, which additions are to be made over to her in liferent in double infeftment, to be held, and with warrandice, in manner as aforesaid. He also binds himself that where he shall acquire any lands, heritages, or others during the period of his marriage, he will acquire the half thereof to Liliash in liferent, and the whole of the same to the heirs procreated of them in fee—which liferent provision Liliash accepts in full satisfaction of all conjunct fee, liferent, terce, or third of all lands, heritages, goods, and others which shall pertain to John at his decease, without prejudice to Liliash of her third of the moveables of John's dwelling-house, and insight and plenishings thereof, which is reserved to her. Liliash, on her part, constitutes and ordains John Byres, her husband, and his heirs, her undoubted and irrevocable cessioners and assignees in and to all debts, sums of money, bond of provision, goods, gear, and others which she shall in any way fall heir to, or which shall pertain to her, dispensing with a more particular enumeration of the same, and declaring the present assignation thereto in all respects effectual and sufficient, giving him power to receive and intronit with the debts, sums of money, and others, and to dispone and use the same at his pleasure, and to do all other things therewith which she could have done before the date of this contract, with precept of sasine in favour of Liliass, and clause of registration. The contract is dated at Coupar of Fyfe, 26th May 1666, and is subscribed by John Byres and Liliass Grant. The witnesses are George, Marquise of Huntly, W. Scott of Ardross, John Saintser, doctor of medicine, Major William Arnot, Andrew Paterson of Kilmonie, and Captain Francis Stewart. The deed is also signed by Marie, Marchioness of Huntly, sister of Liliass Grant, although she is not otherwise mentioned in it.

part of the Battalion for findhorn, and proposed that I should meet you on the West road from Elgin. As its impossible for me to bring the men to findhorn to-night, having sent them into Elgin w<sup>t</sup> the carts, I thought proper to send the bearer to know if I should join you to-morrow there, or continue the party at Gordonston till further orders. If I be to join you at findhorn you'll please caw<sup>d</sup> (caused) Raeburn goe directly from you to Elgin, and cause the Lieutennatt or Ensign bring them up there, and then come to me here, but if the party be to be continued at Gordonstin he may come straight here, and I shall bring them out here. I ever. Yrs &c 1747. II.—LETTER, No. 164.—From last, addressed A. Mons. Monsieur Jacques Jameson (Stoneywood's assumed name, and a ready description of his parentage, James, son of James), Negotiant, a Gottenburgh, dans la Suede, dated Paris 18 May 1747.

"Sir,—Some days ago I received yours of the 18th ultimo O.S. Since my last to you the prince is returned from M—d, and lives at present in a village called Pessy, about a league from here. In consequence of yours I went there, and communicate yours to Sir Jo. Graham, who told me what I knew very well before, viz., that though the Court of France had approved of the list you and I were in, and had ordered the pay<sup>t</sup> y<sup>r</sup>of, and altho' on the faith of that M<sup>r</sup> Waters had advanced above 4000 Livres, yet as the demands for the campagne had been, and still continued very pressing, the Intendent of the finances had not as yet pay<sup>d</sup> in any part of the money ordered by that list of M<sup>r</sup> Waters, and that till it was pass<sup>d</sup> he would advance no more, but that he had writt to the — Minister the very day I spoke to him, and that he Expected the money would be very soon pay<sup>d</sup> in to Waters. That how soon that happened, he'd let me know, and I should have ane order for yours and y<sup>r</sup> broyr's. As I know very well that every word of the above was true I could say nothing in return; only I told him that as I had writt you in Consequence of his own desire, I wish<sup>d</sup> he'd give me ane order on Waters. He said he would willingly, but he was sure Waters would not pay it (having refused severalls before) till he was reimburs'd of his advance, which could not be long. I likewise ment<sup>d</sup> you and Charlie to the Prince at dinner, who expressed his satisfaction of your being safe, and seem'd very well pleased when I told him that you'd be in Scotland among the first of his friends. When that will be God knows, tho' we hope here it won't be long. Please make my compliments to Messrs. Scot and Carnegie, and tell them they ere in the same list with us, and will draw 1000 Livres each when the money is pay'd, being insert as Captains. Sir James Stewart and his family have been at S<sup>t</sup> Seden since November last, S<sup>r</sup> James Leslie is w<sup>t</sup> the army in Flanders, Lochell is and has been here since the p<sup>r</sup> (Prince) arrived. I beg you'll make my compliments in every particular way to M<sup>r</sup> Baxter, and tell him when he goes home I hope he'll be so good as lett my wife and the rest of my friends know I am well, for tho' I have writt severall times, yett as the communication to Holland is now stop't, I doubt very much if we can expect to hear from Britt. by that way, and let me know if you think it more practicable y<sup>r</sup> way. As to business, there is scarce any possibility of success here ; the war has ruined that at present. So that the army is the only ressource at present which I am not as yet determined to follow. Shall be glad to know what scheme youre on, and how you propose to prosecute it. Severall British letters insist positively that there is to be a second bill of attainder. The F. are carrying all before them in Dutch Flanders: they have taken Sluice, Sas de Grand, fort Phillyspinee and Hulst, but have lost a considerable number of men before Hulst, the dutch having defended it better than their o'yr towns since the Election of a Stadhouder. We expect daily the news of a generall action in flanders, which is thought unavoidable, and if the Allies be beat Its hard to foresee what may be the consequence. The D—ke has left this some time ago privately and where's he gone is a secret. remember me to young Gask, and to honest Generall Gordon. We drink all your healths often. L<sup>d</sup> Lewis is on this this side the water, S<sup>r</sup> Will Gordon is here, and is L. Coll. to L<sup>d</sup> Ogil.—I am, Sir, Y<sup>r</sup> Most Humble Servent,

"P.S.—When I write to Scotland I sign Pat Robertson, but there's no danger twixt this and you I sign my own name."

III.—LETTER, NO. 189.—From last to same, dated Paris, 12
Aprile 1747 N.S.

"Sir,—I received yours of the 7th ulto.—I suppose old style—some days ago, though I have reasons enough to excuse my declining any correspondence w<sup>t</sup> you, after the usage I very undeservedly met w<sup>t</sup> from you, whereof, though you make no mention, I make no doubt of your being sensible, yet, as it was always my principall that of the two I'd rather any man were in the wrong to me than I to him, I therefor thought it incumbent on me to acquaint you of some facts which concern you. You must know then that after being some time here, on hearing that your Brother and you were arrived at Gotheburg, as there was a list of the prince's friends making up, in order to be given in to the Court of france, I waited on Sir Jo. Graham, who does business here for the Duke of York, and told him that your Broy<sup>r</sup> and you were arrived in Sweden, and desired that he would put you in the List, which he was making up of the prince's friends. He ask'd what Quality you had serv'd in. I told him you as Coll. and your broy<sup>r</sup> as Cap<sup>t</sup> of Lord L. Gordon's first Batt. He said he would insert you as L<sup>t</sup> Coll. and your Broy<sup>r</sup> as Cap<sup>t</sup>, seeing he knew that you had acted as such, L<sup>d</sup> Lewis having been Coll. himself, which was accordingly done; and now the Court of france have issued the money for the payment of that List, so that there's 1500 livres for you and 1000 for Charlie, which you and he may send orders to any one of your friends here to wait on Sir Jo. Graham, who will give any one so Impower'd ane order on M<sup>r</sup> Waters, the Banq<sup>r</sup>, for each of these sums. You'll need also, I believe, send at same time y<sup>r</sup> receipts to M<sup>r</sup> Waters for his exoneration in case you propose to draw the money, and directions What way to apply or remitt it after M<sup>r</sup> Waters pays it. I believe the Court of france may be prevail'd on to make some more pay<sup>ts</sup> in the same way to such of the prince's friends as are not as yett oyrwise provided for, though I doubt much of their being continu'd. I have writt to Scotland to let Charlie know of this, in case he should be still there. I am heartily Concern'd I do assure you for thi loss you have suffered in your family by the death of your two sons. If Charlie come to Sweden I'm still of opinion that he could do better here than anywhere else. However, as his best judge of that is himself, I only hint it that he may have it in his eye. M<sup>r</sup> Ogilvie, of Inshewan, who is just now w<sup>t</sup> me, desires to be remembered to you.—I am, Sir, Your Most Humble Servant,

"P.S.—I desire that Charlie may write me how soon he arrives in Sweden, and if you write to Scotland that you'd fall on some way to cause him Write me from there if he has not yett left the country."

IV. LETTER, No. 190—Patrick Byres to James Moir, Paris,
1st August 1747.

"Sir,—At last, after being obliged to be severall times at the trouble to go and come to the prince's Quarters at S<sup>t</sup> Toin, which is 2 leagues from here, I Got an order from S<sup>r</sup> Jo. Graham on M<sup>r</sup> Waters for 1500 livres for you, and enoyr for 1000 for Charlie, and on giving my receipt on the back of them M<sup>r</sup> Waters has payd me the money, which is now in my custody. I was obliged to leave your orders wt Sir Jo. as a voucher to him before he'd Give me a precept on M<sup>r</sup> Waters, so on receipt of this, youll send me a receipt for the 1500 Livres, as mine lyes w<sup>t</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Waters, and in the meantime I shall endeavour to gett a Bill for said sum on Holland payable to Mr Crawford, tho' I could wish to hear from you first, as possibly you may have altered your intention, it has cost me about five and twenty or thirty livres in Coach hire, &c., soliciting for you, which I suppose you will not grudge. We have had here Copies of ane act of the British parl<sup>t</sup> which they pretend to dignifie w<sup>t</sup> the title of a Bill of Indemnity, tho' in my opinion, it ought rather to be call'd a 2<sup>d</sup> Bill of Attaindre. There are in it 85 Gentl<sup>e</sup>men Excepted, besides those already attainted, of wh number y<sup>r</sup> unkle, you, and I are three. Besides these 85 Excepted by name, all abroad, all in foreign service, all transported, and all any manner of way concerned in the late rebellion are excepted in one Generall Clause, so that one or oyr. Everybody is Included; tho' as to those not Excepted by name, in my opinion I think they may w<sup>t</sup>out any danger go home—and I was resolved to have done so myself had I not been Excepted. I had a letter from Robie Sandilands two or three posts ago, to which I wrote him ane answer the 23<sup>d</sup> ult<sup>o</sup> w<sup>t</sup> my thoughts anent what he should do, which I see no reasons hitherto to alter. Please remember me to him, and tell him that I have gott him mark'd down as a Cap<sup>t</sup> in a list they are just now making up to be given in to the Court, but when it will be given in or when pay'd is very uncertain. Had he write a post sooner he had been in a list just now given in, and which will, I believe, be soon pay'd. He wrote me your Lady was come over, I hope she is well ; please remember me to her. The only news here are that the french have been sadly defeat in Italy, and have lost yor 8000 men and a number of Generall offrs ; out of 28 Batt<sup>n</sup> there are 27 Collonels slain along with the Chev<sup>lr</sup> de Belisle who commanded that Corps, and is said the Marschall de Belisle and the whole army have retired to the frontiers of provence, which if true, is a very great check. Glenbuckett arrived here two or three Days ago w<sup>t</sup> Mr Menzies. In order to save postage I have writt Charlie on this. Having nothing further to add.—I am, Sir, Your Most Humble servant,

V. LETTER, No. 191—Patrick Byres to Mr Charles Moir.

"PARIS, 1st August 1747.

"Dear Charlie,—I had your's from Gotthburgh, and was glad to you had got safe. I have gott your 1000 livres, and shall remitt or employ it as you order ; in my opinion you should come here, as your passage to Holland would cost you nothing. Tarriebreecks you know pay<sup>t</sup> no freight, and when in Holland you should gett your self made Burger at Rott<sup>dm</sup>, and then proceed to Ostend, Dunkerque, or any oyr place of that kind, and buy a prize which you know you can do pretty easy, and so youll be just in your old way again, and might be usefull to y<sup>r</sup> friends. Your being made burger at Rott<sup>dm</sup> will cost you but a triffle of 15 or 20f, or if you please you may gett your self made a Burger of Gottenburgh, which I believe would be better, and then you could sail your vessell as a Swedish ship, for in all probability the Dutch will soon be in war w<sup>t</sup> the french. This is my scheme, but if you have any better of your own you know Counsel's not Command. When you write me how to order your 1000 livres, send on a recept along because mine lyes for it. I heard lately from y<sup>r</sup> aunt all is well at home, and she writes me that you had left Scotland sometime ago. Make my compliments to all friends, and I ever am, Dear Charlie, Yours Most affectionatly,

DUEL between JOHN LEITH of Leith-hall and JAMES ABERNETHY of Mayen, 1763.

"Archibald Campbell's House," stood on the site now occupied by the premises of the North of Scotland Banking Company, and was a well-known place of festive entertainment in the City of Bon-Accord a hundred years ago. It was in that house, subsequently known as "The New Inn," about or soon after midnight of 21st December 1763—at which season, in consequence of the 20th December being held, in that part of Scotland, as one of the half-yearly money terms, many gentlemen from the country districts visit Aberdeen—that, in the progress of a convivial meeting, a quarrel arose between John Leith of Leith-hall and James Abernethy of Mayen in Devronside; which, from its fatal termination, attracted at the time considerable public attention, and was commemorated in a ballad still remembered in some parts of the country. The origin of the dispute seems to have been forgotten, but the party then assembled had evidently entertained no apprehension of its terminating disastrously, as on the two disputants leaving the room the only remark which seemed to have been made was by one of the gentlemen still remaining in the apartment, who casually observed that "Leith would take care to keep out of harm's way." In a short time, the sound of firearms out of doors having been heard, the portion of the company that had remained at table rushed out to ascertain the cause, when Leith-hall was found lying on the plain-stanes, nearly opposite to Archibald Campbell's house, wounded (and, as it soon proved, mortally), by a pistol bullet in his forehead. The unhappy gentleman died on the third day thereafter. His adversary, reported to have been slightly wounded on the thigh, evaded justice by immediate flight to the Continent. It is said that one of the balls fired on the occasion was to be seen for many years sticking in a neighbouring lamp post.—(The Book of Bon-Accord, 1839, p. 156.)

In reference to that occurrence, the Editor of the Black Kalendar of Aberdeen (Edition 1840, p. 77), observes:—"It has been stated, though we do not place unhesitating reliance on the story, that the quarrel between Leith-hall and Mayen might have been settled but for the interference of Patrick Byres of Tonley, who urged Mayen to the deed, and even loaded his pistol. It is certain that he left the country along with Mayen." Mr Abernethy was indicted to stand trial at the Circuit Court of Justiciary, held at Aberdeen in May 1764, before Lord Auchinleck. In the Scots Magazine for 1764, it is recorded that, "At Aberdeen, James Abernethy of Mayen, Esq., was outlawed, for not appearing to stand trial on an indictment for the murder of John Leith of Leith-hall, Esq."

Memoir of James Young,
&c., by the late A. Johnston,
W.S.

"The late Dr James Moir of Aberdeen gives a different account of the nature of his grandfather's (Patrick Byres) interference on the occasion referred to. The Doctor relates that it is true that Tonley was of the party whereat the dispute happened between Leith-hall and Mayen; and that Patrick Byres followed them when they left Archibald Campbell's house, but that before Mr Byres had reached the plain stanes, Leith-hall had been wounded, after which Mr Byres procured horses for his wife's nephew in order to enable the latter to escape from the town."

From a verse of a local ballad commemorating this sad event, it is evident that the feeling in the country at the time was against Mayen.

"The brave Leith-hall went down the stair,
Not knowing what to do,
The cruel men they followed him,
And shot him through the broo" (brow).

LETTER.—JA<sup>s</sup> MONTGOMERIE, Elgin, to ALEX<sup>s</sup> DUNEAR, Esq.,
Student of Law, Edinburgh.

8. Feb'y. 1764.

"Sir,—At the desire of your friend the old Lady, I trouble you with the enclosed to which please to be refer'd as Mr Riddoch is a very dilitary sort of man. She not only insists for your own good offices but that you will likewise be a spur to him, who can inform you fully of the affair. The Laird takes a particular concern in this, of which he desired you might be acquainted, and that he will expect a proper account of your Progress, &c. &c.

Nothing new in this corner, Mayen and Leithhall's story has occasioned much speculation of late, the Laird (Archibald Dunbar of Thunderton), invariably expouses Mayen's side, and swears that in the first place Mayen is a gentleman, secondly a Brave man, and lastly that their Grandmothers were sisters (see p. 82). Consequently quite incapable of doing anything base.

EXTRACT LETTER.—JOHN LESLIE, King's Coll., Aberdeen, to ARCHIBALD DUNBAR, Esqr<sup>e</sup> of Thunderton, at Duffus.

9th Feby. 1764.

"Your son tells me you are anxious to have some account of Leithhall's death.

"There is such a variety of contradictory stories about that affair, that one does not know what to write. It is not generally agreed that Mr Byres is perfectly innocent, and it is said that all Leithhall's friends except Blackhall, are willing to drop the prosecution against him.

"It is likewise said that great interest will be used for a pardon to Mayen, in case it shall appear to have been a duel."

LETTER from PAT. DUFF, Elgin, to ARCHIBALD DUNBAR, Esqr<sup>e</sup>, of Newton.

27. Decr. 1763.

"Sir,—I dont wonder that you and every gentleman feels for the family of the unhappy gentleman at Aberdeen. The way it rose I hear is, that they and some others had been drinking all night. That Leithhall, Mayen, and Byres, about four in the morning came to the Street in a ffriendly way. Leithhall having ordered his servt. to put on a fire to him in his room, and for ought yet known here suspected no Damage. Mayen to resent an old quarrel, privately desired his ser<sup>t</sup> to go for his pistols, they were accordingly brought, whether any information was given to Leithhall I have not yet learned, but so it is he was shot as in my last. His Ser<sup>t</sup> heard the report and being alarmed thereby run to the Street found his master lying and this Byres by him. He apprehended Byre, and while he held him Byre called on Mayen to return and shoot the ser<sup>t</sup> with his oy<sup>r</sup> pistol as he had done nis master, the ser<sup>t</sup> cried out for help and Byres was kept. Mayen broke open the stable door, took out his horse and rode of without obots or Big Coat. Poor Leithhall ffevered Saturday and died on Sunday morning. This came last night or this morning p<sup>r</sup> express. His Lady on her arrival was not permitted to speak to him being then speechless. I am going throw your processes, but to write of them sensibly will take sometime.—I am, Sir, your obed<sup>t</sup> ser<sup>t</sup>.

DUNBAR, Esq., Edinbro'.

29. Feby. 1764.

"It is long since I might have written you anent your unlucky friend at Abe<sup>n</sup> whom I Dare say you are sorry for. But as the only gentleman of that Detestable Company (who had Courage or Humanity to go to the Street with the unhappy combatants) was M<sup>r</sup> Byres, and he being kept in custody, and examined with others before your Criminal Court, . . . to say nothing till that was over, of which at this date I have not heard the issue. Wherefor let me know how the matter now stands. For if it shall appear that the other proud man Got but Fair Play, such as one Gentleman could expect from another, I shall have little doubt but that the Living man will come off by the interposition of Friends."

EXTRACT LETTER.—A. D. (ALEX<sup>s</sup> DUNBAR), to ARCH<sup>d</sup>

Dated from Elgin, Thursday Night.

"I examin'd him (M<sup>r</sup> Sheriff), about Mayen and Leithhall, he says Leithhall gave the Lye, and Mayen gave a challange. Leithhall said he had no pistels. Mayen call'd for his Pistols and offer Leithhall one of them which he excepted of, they satt a good while after that, and the Pistols befor them on the Table, at last Leithhall went out and left his pistol, Mayen follow'd after, and caried both the pistols with him, then Byres went out, he says Byres is using all his intirst to have a Tryal immediately. and no Body can know the real Truth of the thing but him, he also says that they prevaricat as much about it at Aberdeen, as the doe here, but that most people is of opinion that Mayen gave Leithhall fair-play for his life, its tak'd that Stoneywood has sent Mayen to Gotenburgh."

FAMILY OF SANDILANDS, OF CRAIBSTONE AND COTTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ABERDEEN.

COMPILED FROM A GENEALOGY WRITTEN ABOUT 1770.

"Justi ut sidera fulgent" (The righteous shine as the stars).

The surname of Sandilands is one of the most ancient in Scotland, and was assumed by the proprietors of the Barony of Sandilands, in the county of Lanark, as early as the reign of King Malcolm Canmore, who ascended the throne in the year 1057, about which period surnames at first became hereditary in this country. The chiefs of this name were the Barons of Sandilands in the county of Lanark, who afterwards became Barons of Calder, in the county of Edinburgh, and are now represented by the Lord Torphichen, whose descent is deduced from the royal family of Scotland, by the marriage of his ancestor, Sir James Sandilands, of Calder, Knight, with the Princess Jean, fifth daughter of Robert the Second.

The family of Craibstone and Cotton descend from

I. James Sandilands, who settled in Aberdeenshire about the year 1606 (a descendant of the Barons of Middlerig, in the county of Lanark, and of Bold, in the county of Peebles, who were very ancient cadets of the Barons of Sandilands, and were possessed of the lands above mentioned as early as the reign of King Malcolm the Fourth, who succeeded to the crown in 1153, from whom they were granted by charter to be held of the king), bought the lands of Craibstone, in Newhills parish. He was Doctor of Law, an Advocate before the Court of Session, and Commissary of Aberdeen. Besides other important offices which he held, he was for many years Clerk to the General Assemblies of the Church of Scotland, and appears to have been the first who was deprived of office for adhering to the measures of his sovereign King Charles I. James Sandilands m<sup>d</sup> 1606 Catherine eldest dau. of Thomas Paterson, of Granton, in the Merse, merchant, of Edinburgh, by his wife Christian Nicolson, "of the family of Carnock, by whom he had four sons and two daughters,—the eldest son Thomas Sandilands, of Craibstone, m<sup>d</sup> Margaret Cumming of Culter, on Deeside, and continued the family" of Craibstone. The 2<sup>d</sup> son, II. James Sandilands (born 1610, died 1650)—“a person of great worth, learning, and eloquence”—I, of Cotton, near Aberdeen. M<sup>d</sup> 1640 Marjory, dau. of Bailie Alexander Burnett, of Countesswells (2<sup>d</sup> son to Sir Thomas Burnett, Bart., of Leys), merchant in Aberdeen. He was first Regent and thereafter Civilist of the King's College, and Town Clerk of Aberdeen; and when King Charles II. was at Aberdeen, he received His Majesty with the magistrates, and upon his delivering to the King the keys of the town, he made a remarkable speech in Latin. The King took such notice of him on this occasion that on his Restoration he sent him a letter appointing him one of the Lords of Session, but he (unhappily) died a few days before the letter arrived. Issue, three sons and two daughters.

1. Patrick, his heir.
2. James, of Countesswells, Provost of Aberdeen. M<sup>d</sup> first a dau. of the family of Arbuthnott, widow of a younger brother of Sir Thomas Burnett, Bart., of Leys, and 2<sup>dly</sup> Ann, dau. of John Udny, of Newhills, and had issue.<sup>1</sup>
3. Robert, rector of Spine, in Berkshire, died without issue.
1. Jean, m<sup>d</sup> John Moir, of Kermuck, afterwards of Stoney-wood. See that family, p. 72.
2. Rachel, m<sup>d</sup> John Gordon, younger, of Fechill (“of the family of Straloch”), in the parish of Ellon, Aberdeenshire, and had issue one son and three daughters.
1. Katherine Gordon (the youngest), m<sup>d</sup> Bailie John Burnett, merchant in Aberdeen (commonly called “Bonnie John”), by whom with a dau., Margery Burnett, m<sup>d</sup> to Patrick Turnbull, merchant, Aberdeen (a brother of Strathcathro in Angus), and had issue. She had an only son.
1. James Burnett, merchant in Aberdeen, who m<sup>d</sup> Isobel, dau. of John Black, merchant, of Bordeaux, by his wife, a dau. of Robert Gordon, of Hallhead, and of his wife, Isabel, 2<sup>d</sup> dau. of James Byres, of Aberdeen, merchant (see p. 118). Mrs. Isobel Black or Burnett was sister of Joseph Black,

M.D., the celebrated chemist. They had a numerous family, of which one son was Lieut.-Col. Joseph Burnett, of Gadgirth, in Ayrshire, getting that estate through marrying Margaret Steele the heiress thereof, whose eldest dau., Margaret Burnett, became, in 1834, the 2<sup>d</sup> wife of her cousin-german, Gen. Byres, III. of Tonley (see p. 130), while a dau., Margaret Burnett, m<sup>d</sup> 1770 Robert Byres, of Memil, &c. (see p. 118), and their son, Gen. Patrick Byres, m<sup>d</sup> his cousin as above.

DONALDSONS OF AUCHMULL, &amp;c.

"Sub Cruce Lux" (Salvation through the Cross).

This family, doubtless a branch of the numerous and powerful Clan of MacDonald, were long settled in Aberdeenshire—one branch owned for a time the estate of Hilton in the parish of Ellon, and in the "Memoranda of the family of Forbes of Watertounne," printed at Aberdeen in 1857, at p. 57, John Donaldson of Hilton is mentioned in 1652—see p. 78. The Donaldsons of Kinnardie, on Devronside, in the county of Banff, were not, so far as I know, of the same stock, although I think the Donaldsons of Auchmull, in the parish of Newhills, Aberdeenshire (who for many years owned that property), were.

1. Robert Donaldson and Issobell Irvine were married on Tuesday, being the sixteenth day of Aprile 1695 years, by Mr Andrew Burnett, Minr. of Abd. at Cults House. (This Robert Donaldson was most probably son of John Donaldson and Isobel Leslie, whose initials are on outside, and names on fly-leaf, of Family Bible, <sup>1</sup> from which most of the following dates, &c, are taken.) His wife Isobell Irvine was a daughter of the Laird of Cults, a cadet of the ancient house of Drum. Robert Irvine of Cults was probably Mrs Donaldson's father.

1. Robert Donaldson and Issobell Irvine of Cults, had issue—

1. Robert, born, 21st, and bap. 26 Jany. 1696, by Dr William Blair. Godfathers, Mr Ro. Irvine, Cults, Mr Ro. Pater-son, Commissary, Ro. Burnett of Elrick, Ro. Gordon of Stroloch, Ro. Bruce, Merct., Ro. Abercrombie, Merct. Died 23 Sept<sup>r</sup> 1734.
2. John, born 9 June, 1697, and bap. by Dr Blair. Godfathers, Provost Sandilands, Mr John Stewart, John Bruce, John Gray, Bailzie, Jo. Anderson, and died 24 May 1698, and was buried beside his grandfather and grandmother.
3. James, his heir, born and bap. 24 March 1699, by Dr Blair.

Godfathers James Roland, Disblair, eldr James Milne, Blairtoun, James Fyffe, Merct., James Bayly, Merct., James Mercer, Mercht.

4. Andrew, born 17 Feby. 1702.

1. Issobel, born 21 Sept<sup>r</sup> and bap. 24 1700 by Dr Blair. Witnesses, Alex<sup>r</sup> Walker, provost, Geo. Davidson of Cairnbrougie, James Robertson, M<sup>r</sup> Gilbert Leslie, Mercht<sup>s</sup>. Name Mothers, Issobell Forbes, ye lady Auchnegat, Issobell Irvin, w. to J. Robertson, Issobell Black, wife to B. Ro. Cuming.

II. James Donaldson, M.D. of Auchmull, Physician in Aberdeen, m<sup>d</sup> at Hilton, 5th Dec<sup>r</sup> 1727, Katherine Gordon (who died 1755), daughter of John Gordon, M.D., of Hilton, near Old Aberdeen, and sister of James Gordon, M.D., of Hilton, who eventually succeeded to the family property of Pitlurg (see Gordon of Pitlurg—Burke's Landed Gentry). Another sister of the last gentleman and of Mrs Donaldson, m<sup>d</sup> Turner of Menie in the parish of Belhelvie, Aberdeenshire. Issue—

1. Alexander, born 4 March 1731, his heir.

2. Andrew, born, 23 July 1732.

3. John, born 21 Dec<sup>r</sup> 1734. Witnesses, John Burnet Turner and John Rickhart, Auchnecant. Died 21 Jany. 1737, buried next day under his great-grandfather's stone in the churchyard.

4. James, born 13 June 1743, died 26 May 1744.

1. Margaret, born 12 Oct<sup>r</sup> 1728.

2. Isobel, born 10 Dec<sup>r</sup> 1737, bap. same day by M<sup>r</sup> Keith. Witnesses, Mrs Bell More and Bell M<sup>c</sup>Kell. Died 23 Aug<sup>t</sup> 1738.

3. Katherine, born 7 Sept<sup>r</sup> 1740.

4. Isobel, born 25 April 1745. Married in 1744 Cap<sup>t</sup> John Byres, R.E. (see Byres of Tonley, p. 125).

Dr James Donaldson, died 25 July 1761.

III. Alexander Donaldson, M.D.,<sup>1</sup> of Auchmull, married 3 Aug<sup>t</sup> 1779, Hope, daughter of John Burnet of Elrick, and widow of James Davidson of Midmar, both in Aberdeenshire.

<sup>1</sup> Several of this family were Professors of Medicine in Marischall College, Aberdeen—1732. James Donaldson, II. of Auchmull—1754-55, Alexander Donaldson.

Dr Alexander Donaldson died 19 May 1793.

The Lyon Register contains ten entries of arms for this name from 1672 onwards, all but one bearing the eagle and lymphad of Macdonald, and in some cases a descent from the Glencoe family being stated. In 1642 a Litera Prosapiæ under the Great Seal was issued in favour of Alexander Donaldson, M.D., son of Walter Donaldson, Professor of Philosophy at Sedan, tracing his descent, through five generations, from Donald Donaldson of Esslemond, designed baron, and Isabella Hay his wife, of the noble house of Errol.

Scottish Arms, p. 30.

Lyon Register Donaldson of Auchmull, or, an eagle displayed with two heads sable, beaked, and membered, gules, surmounted of a galley, of the second, flagged of the third, on a dexter cauton, argent, a sinister hand coupé gules, all within a bordure of the last. Crest, a passion cross, gules. Motto, "Sub Cruce Lux." The Donaldsons of Hilton have similar arms, but a different crest and motto.
